It only takes a little mechanical legerdermain to change a physiogomy, but it takes nature a long time to replace personal characteristics. That's why I had difficulty adjusting my eyesight to National Commander Doherty's "side-kick" appearing on our page one last Saturday. Says I, if that's Art Ecklund, he's changed over night on me, and without previous notice. Got it all straightened out now, and Art's the same fellow he looked like ten years ago.

A favorite modern literary pastime of the literati is to do some historical excavation and disentomb reputations of men whom we have been taught to believe offered extraordinary service to their country. Truth About Reorganization

Supervisor West Faces Accuser

Court Dismisses Two Charges On Defense Motion

Supervisor N. E. West, escaping trial on two counts of a grand jury ouster accusation, today faced one of his accusers—E. K. Wood of Riverside, who says the Laguna supervisor asked him for $200 for his "services" on the board. Wood was called by District Attorney W. F. Menton just before noon as the state's first witness.

Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine of San Diego, presiding over West's trial before a jury of eight women and four men, today granted a defense motion to strike out the third and fourth specifications of the accusation.

This means West will be tried only on two charges—those of soliciting $200 from Wood and $1000 from A. H. Fanning in connection with liquidation of the assessment-burdened Broadway improvement district in Laguna Beach.

Judge Turrentine's ruling, holding West could not be tried for official misconduct because of

Thirty-Three Called Or Excused

Sixteen out of 20 possible peremptory challenges—by which jurors are excused without announced reason—were used in selection of a jury to try Supervisor N. E. West.

Nine of their 10 possible challenges were used by Dist. Atty. W. F. Metnon and Asst. Atty. Preston Turner, and seven challenges out of a possible 10 were used by Edgar Hervey and B. Z. McKinney, defense counsel.

Besides those excused on peremptory challenges, one juror was excused before the trial began, three were excused for cause and one was excused by stipulation of counsel. Thirty-three out of the 50-juror panel were called or excused.

UNIFORMS NOT FOR BANDSMEN

High school bandmen won't get the $1200 worth of uniforms school board members wanted to buy them—because uniforms aren't a legal "necessary expense."

This was agreed by the board unofficially last night, after Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker had submitted an opinion referring to a Los Angeles opinion that school money could be spent only for "necessary equipment." Uniforms, Walker said, are not legally necessary.

CIRCUS CALLS FOR VACATIONS

While the city of Santa Ana was collecting $75 in license fees from the circus today, school officials estimated the local educational institutions lost more than $100 because 300 pupils stayed away from classes all day to get a good look at the big top show.

Based on last year's attendance figures when the circus was here, there were 175 grammar school children and 125 junior and senior high school pupils who declared a holiday on their own volition.

Rolph's Son Hurls Chapeau in Ring

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — The name of James Rolph came back into the California political picture today when James Rolph, III, announced he would file for lieutenant governor.

The son of the late governor will seek nomination on Republican, Democratic and Progressive tickets.

Rolph is a member of the state board of pilot commissioners for San Francisco bay, a San Francisco insurance man and a breeder of race horses.

SPAIN ADDS TO EUROPE'S WAR FEARS

Civil Struggle Threatens Peace

By Associated Press

Europe struggled today to keep Spain's civil war in Spain, against new threats it might spread.

The Spanish government, its back to the wall, accused Germany and Italy again of lending strong support to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's insurgent armies.

In Rome, the Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, charged France and Russia were obstructing the withdrawal of foreign fighters from Spain, declaring Italy was ready to recall her forces when those countries did.

He warned that open French intervention in Spain would have "grave consequences" in the rest of Europe.

In London, the European non-intervention committee's sub-committee was summoned for Thursday. Great Britain then was expected to bring France into line with her plan to remove the foreign soldiers.

Insurgents, in a note to Britain, countered the government charges. They declared Barcelona authorities were planning an air raid on French soil with planes bearing Italian markings "to provoke an international conflict."

Franco's armies, with one foot planted in Catalonia province, waited for rest and reinforcements before launching what insurgents hoped would be the death blow of the war. Catalonia is the heart of government Spain's resistance, its seat and industrial center.

GUARD PRAISED AT INSPECTION

Col. D. H. Cowles praised unit commanders of Santa Ana's two National Guard companies on the improvement shown over last year's inspection, following a federal examination of the groups last night.

First Lieutenant Leonard E. Echols is commander of the Headquarters company and Capt. Robert P. Kellogg, head of Company "L". Major Donald L. Winans, the battalion commander, accompanied Lt. Col. Col. House Remains On Final Journey

NEW YORK. (AP)—The body of Col. Edward M. House, close friend and advisor to President Woodrow Wilson, who died here yesterday in his 79th year, will start its last journey late today, bound for Houston, Texas, for burial in the family plot there.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Auchincloss, daughter and son-in-law, will accompany the body.

Burial services will be private in accordance with Col. House's wishes.

Oil Land School Fight Gets 'Time'

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Taxpayers fighting to prevent the removal of the Seaside school at Long Beach from valuable oil lands were granted 10 days today in which to file an amended petition for a preliminary injunction.

The Long Beach board of education proposes to permit oil drilling on the school site. Superior Judge Emmet Wilson denied a petition by a taxpayers' group yesterday.

STATE FREIGHT RATES 'WEIGHED'

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—The petition of 52 California railroads for permission to increase intrastate freight charges for basic commodities was taken under advisement today by the California railroad commission.

Representatives of the railroads said the freight increases were needed in view of increased labor costs and taxes. Similar increases allowed for nationwide rates by the interstate commerce commission were effective yesterday.

California Farm Bureau federation representatives opposed the increases and argued that railroads would not benefit because farmers would ship instead by truck.

West Absent When Supervisors Meet

A chair at the supervisors' table in the board room was conspicuously empty during the entire morning session today.

The supervisors took no official notice of the emptiness, until County Clerk B. J. Smith finally made a roll call on a resolution. Four names were called, four supervisors mumbled "Aye," and the clerk completed the roll call with two words: "West . . . absent."

James Royal Scott Leaves $54,933.38

The late James Royal Scott, who died last Nov. 9, left an estate valued at $54,933.38, according to a report of Inheritance Tax Appraiser Howard Irwin, on file in superior court today.

The estate includes $29,275.49 in cash and the remainder in real and personal property. Mrs. Rose Lee Scott of Los Angeles has been named executrix.

Ambassador

Turkish government today agreed to the appointment of Franz von Papen as German representative in Europe. He was ambassador in Austria until its absorption by Germany.

BUREAU BILL OKEH-HOOVER

NEW YORK. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, returning home from Europe today, said he could not see that the government reorganization bill contained any suggestion of dictatorship. He himself, he said, always favored reorganization of departments.

Told of passage of the bill by the senate, he asked whether it had been further amended and when he heard it had not, said "That's too bad."

The former President came home with seven or eight new honorary degrees, 15 or 18 new medals and a conviction that a general war is not imminent in Europe.

The degrees, medals and conviction—a conviction persisting in spite of the extensive military preparation he witnessed—were gathered in a two-month tour of European countries.

BUTTERFLY GIRL IN WEIRD DEATH

COMPTON. (AP)—Opal Holbrow, 25, whose broken form was found on a road near Compton early today, died an hour later without being able to tell what had happened to her.

Sheriff's deputies sought for questioning a man who was reported to have driven Miss Holbrow and a sister, Fay, 27, from a Long Beach cafe shortly before midnight.

A heart, pierced by an arrow, was tattooed on one knee, and a butterfly on the other.

Strikers in France Ask Blum to Settle

PARIS. (AP)—Delegates of 30,000 striking metal workers announced today they had found a basis for settlement after lengthy conferences with Interior Minister Marx Dormoy and Vincent Auriol, minister of coordination of services.

Details of the proposed agreement were not disclosed. The main suggestion, however, was understood to be that Premier Leon Blum arbitrate personally after the strikers return to work.

Joe Smith Ouster From Sewer Board Voted By Council

Four brother members of the city council last night "ousted" Councilman Joseph P. Smith from the joint outfall sewer board. Instead of directly using the knife on Smith, they merely named Mayor Fred C. Rowland as "Santa Ana's representative" without first declaring the job vacant. Smith voiced expressions of amazement; hinted at a conspiracy with Anaheim, Fullerton and Orange, and concluded with the remark that he "was sorry if I lost a sale of oil for Mr. Ernest Layton."

Layton made the ouster motion, seconded by Penn. A unison vote brought forth two definite "yes" replies, and Mayor Rowland asked for a roll call. Layton, Penn and Plummer Bruns voted affirmatively—Smith said "no."

It was then up to Mayor Rowland. Said the mayor: "With the majority of the council voting, I would personally rather not have the burden on me. To keep harmony on the council I'll vote "aye," only because I feel their

HOUSE ASKS BILL REVISE

Committee to Change Reorganization Law

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Democratic members of a special house committee decided today to lump together four government reorganization measures they previously had approved and ask the house to substitute them for the reorganization bill passed by the senate yesterday.

The house has passed two of the four measures. The procedure agreed upon will force house action on those two again as part of a general reorganization measure.

In general, the four house bills parallel the single senate-approved measure. One principal difference is in the treatment of the general accounting office and comptroller general.

The full reorganization committee—with the Republican minority present—will meet tomorrow. Chairman Cochran (D., Mo.) said, to consolidate the four measures into one and formally recommend house passage of the merged legislation.

Eight Supervisors Bossing Eight Men Digging One Ditch

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP) — A district improvement club protested to the city council there were eight supervisors bossing eight men digging a ditch. The club thought that was too many bosses.

Councilman W. D. Ewing investigated, but found only seven supervisors.

Mayor B. E. Hanning promised to send another supervisor today to make a recount.

Soil Conservation Deadline Stated

April 15 is the deadline on filing work sheets for participation in the 1938 agricultural conservation program. Information and the proper blanks may be obtained at the conservation office, 622 North Main street. John H. Burnett is secretary of the county branch.

Persons unable to visit the office shoupld notify Burnett by mail at once, he said today, telling the number of acres farmed, location, and legal description of the land.

Closing date for filing of range work sheets will be announced later.

German Pilot Lands In Brazil on Hop

SAO SALVADOR, Brazil. (AP)—H. W. Engel, German commercial pilot, landed at Caravellas, Brazil, at 9:03 a. m., Greenwich time (4:05 a. m., E.S.T.) today after a flight from England that broke the long distance world record for straight flight by a seaplane.

DISMISSAL OF SUIT SOUGHT

A motion to dismiss the city's suit against T. R. Alvord, assistant business manager of The Journal, over distribution of the paper's Sunrise edition, was taken under advisement today by City Judge J. G. Mitchell.

The judge took this action after I. C. Boldman, attorney for The Journal, pointed out that the present ordinance had the effect of prohibiting a new newspaper from ever starting in Santa Ana and that therefore it was invalid. He also cited yesterday's decision of the U. S. supreme court holding that licensing of papers strikes at the freedom of the press.

An injunction suit against the ordinance is scheduled to be heard soon in superior court.

SPANS CALLED 'PERFECT DAM' BY BOARD

Injunctions Against Rebuilding Threatened

Terming the bridges "a perfect dam" the board of supervisors this morning adopted a resolution vigorously protesting against reconstruction of the demolished Santa Ana boulevard and nearby Southern Pacific railroad bridges across the Santa Ana river, and indicated the county may seek an injunction "if necessary" to protect adjacent county property.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Santa Ana city council, the Southern Pacific company, and the state highway commission.

Legal action to "put teeth" in the protest was referred to the district attorney's office. The board intimated it would be willing to go into court, if necessary, to keep the two bridges from being rebuilt.

The resolution specifically recommended reconstruction of the bridges with "longer spans and higher clearance."

"I'd hate to own property along the river and have the same type of bridges go back in," Supervisor John Mitchell commented as he introduced the resolution.

Steele Finley, supervisor for Santa Ana, declared, "I think an injunction suit should be filed."

The board's action was taken following presentation of a petition signed by 158 property owners in the West Orange area. Mrs. A. F. Schroeder, speaking for the group, asked that the county take legal action on grounds that county property (the county farm and hospital) was endangered by the two bridges.

Willard Smith, board chairman, said the county had no jurisdiction to pass an ordinance binding on either the city, state or railroad.

An ominous note was injected into the discussion when C. J. Marks, executive secretary of the Orange County Farm bureau who joined the protesting group of property owners, remarked, "I look for trouble if the bridges are allowed to go back in . . . People in West Orange are getting bitter about it, and if the Santa Ana city council overrode their protests, they might get more bitter . . ."

Townsendites Set Convention Date

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Townsend old age pension clubs will hold their annual convention in Los Angeles June 19 to 23, Dr. Frances E. Townsend, founder of the movement, announced.

Dr. Townsend said he is looking forward to greeting 10,000 voting delegates, most of whom will be from out of the state. At last year's convention in Cleveland, 14,000 delegates were registered.

Two Navy Fliers Overdue on Hop

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—Two navy fliers, overdue here since yesterday afternoon on a flight from Palm Springs, were still missing at a late hour this morning. They are Lieut. Com. Larue Lawbaugh and E. Key, aviation machinist's mats. They were flying a land plane not equipped with a radio.

WPA Official Due To Hear Complaints

Robert Stevens, WPA adjustment and complaint man from Los Angeles, was expected to arrive in Santa Ana today to resume hearing of cases from disgruntled employes.

Stevens was sent to Santa Ana to adjust misunderstandings between Orange county employes and officials.

Bad Appendix Turn Out to Be Bouncing Baby Girl

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Mrs. Tessie Chronis' appendix were a big surprise to her.

She called an emergency hospital yesterday and said she was suffering from "bad appendix." An ambulance in charge of Dr. Mark Bradley, a dentist, rushed her to the hospital.

She was wheeled into the operating room and a few minutes later the hospital called Nick Chronis, a confectioner, and told him:

"You're father of a seven-pound baby girl."

The astonished Chronises have two other children—Gus, 9, and George, 10.

Nippon Army Retreats Along 100-Mile Shantung Front

SHANGHAI. (AP) — A great Chinese army today was reported to be pushing back Japanese along a 100-mile front in bitter battle for Central China.

On the battle, along a furiously-contested line in Southern Shantung province stretching eastward from the Tientsin-Pukow railway, observers believed the fate of Central China depended.

More than 100,000 men were engaged on each side. Each army reported extremely heavy casualties for the enemy.

The latest bitter phase of the Shantung campaign, nearly three months old, began yesterday. Fighting continued through the night. Chinese asserted the result was a victorious sweep northward, with the Japanese falling back.

Japanese disputed this, but the best available information indicated the Japanese had withdrawn from a gigantic hairpin area between the Tientsin-Pukow railway and the town of Lini.

The crucial monetary situation continued, meanwhile, in Shanghai and other cities with the Chinese dollar at around 25 cents.

American bankers said the finance ministry's system of alloting foreign exchange was responsible for the decline, and that the Chinese dollar would drop lower unless the ministry provided allotments of about 5,000,000 Chinese dollars to take care of urgent foreign trade needs.

Renewed British-Japanese friction came to light when British military authorities lodged a vigorous protest with General Shunroku Hata, Japanese commander in Central China, listing several cases of alleged threats or discourtesy by Japanese soldiers to British soldiers or civilians.

The protest was understood to demand definite guarantees this situation would be remedied. Otherwise, it was said, British soldiers would be ordered henceforth to take suitable action to defend themselves.

The protest charged that yesterday a Japanese soldier in civilian clothes threatened Major E. T. Helsop, commanding a battalion of the Durham light infantry, by thrusting a loaded pistol against his abdomen.

The affair occurred when British sentries halted 12 truckloads of Chinese coolies waving the five-barred flags of the new Japanese-dominated regime at Nanking seeking to enter the British defense sector of Shanghai to celebrate inauguration of that regime.

To prevent incidents in the city the British took the flags away after a heated altercation.

The protest said British sentries on two occasions yesterday were threatened with rifles by Japanese military police seeking to enter the British sector.

A small bomb exploded tonight in front of the Italian consulate-general on Bubbling Well road, did minor damage to the entry way but caused no casualties.

KURT SCHUSCHNIGG FACES TRIAL FOR VIOLATING HIS OWN LAWS

Under No Circumstances Will Question Of Death Penalty Be Involved, Claim

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

VIENNA. (AP)—Kurt Schuschnigg, the last chancellor of independent Austria, faces possible trial for violation of his own constitution. Under no circumstances, however, will the question of the death penalty be involved. Authoritative quarters denied today there was the slightest intention of acting vindictively against the former chancellor foe of German annexation, who still is keeping to his Belvedere palace.

Both Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Field Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering, his right hand man, official spokesmen say, have gone on record to say there would be no death penalty.

The chances of Schuschnigg coming up personally for trial are rated fifty-fifty by those sources. If he is tried and found guilty of fradulent action in connection with his proposed plebiscite the penalty at most could be only two years.

(Schuschnigg, fighting to prevent the union of Austria and Germany that Hitler accomplished March 13, had ordered a plebiscite on his policies. It never was held.)

HITLER CHEERED AS HE PROMISES WORKERS AID

HAMBURG, Germany. (AP) — Cheered by 10,000 visiting workers from Austria and other thousands of their north German comrades, Adolf Hitler today presided at the launching of his second luxury liner for vacationing wage-earners.

SOVIETS HINT 'WRECKERS' IN POLAR FLIGHTS

MOSCOW. (AP)—The government said today that "criminal, anti-Soviet activity of wreckers" was found in the northern sea route administration which is headed by Dr. Otto Schmidt, who directed last summer's polar flights to America and polar weather observations by four Russian scientists.

Without naming Dr. Schmidt, the council of the people's commissars, which is equivalent to the cabinet, adopted a resolution severely blaming the sea route administration for the perilous position of soviet ice breakers and ships drifting helplessly in the Arctic ice.

The resolution found the work of the northern sea route in 1937 "unsatisfactory" and called for a detailed report by April 15.

The specific criticism dealt with the fact that almost the entire ice breaker fleet, and nearly half of the freighters that ply the northern route and were caught in the ice last autumn, are "exposed to imminent danger."

The resolution attributed "blunders" to the "inactive and conceited attitude" of the sea route administration.

The resolution obviously was prompted by the plight of three ice breakers convoying ships which have been drifting toward the polar basin the past five months.

ARMY TO GET HALF-BILLION

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The house passed and sent to the senate today a $448,116,284 appropriation bill for 1939 needs of the army.

The measure, in virtually the same form that it came from the appropriations committee, calls for an increase of about $32,750,000 over the cost of the military establishment for the current year.

Authorization for purchase of 476 airplanes to bring the army's total to 3302 would account for about $18,000,000 of the increase.

(the other sewer board members) problems can be ironed out better, perhaps by doing it this way. I have every confidence Smith has acted in the best of his ability for the sewer district—some things haven't been as smooth as they might have been."

Smith was nonplussed. "I don't know what else I could have done," he began. "I asked for the WPA aid on the sewer . . . I did all I could . . . I don't know why Layton wants to show animus . . . I'm sorry I lost Mr. Layton the sale of a barrel of oil."

Mayor Rowland pointed out "there had been a feeling of unrest." Smith interrupted, stating he wanted to know if the council was working for Santa Ana, or were they meaning to tie up with Anaheim and Fullerton, "with Orange patting them on the backs?"

In commenting on the ouster motion Smith said, "I thought we settled this several weeks ago. I don't know why such a motion was made. I've gone through trying times the past two years. I have no objection to the mayor serving with me. I've never sought the job. I think this is a poor time to make radical changes."

Toward the close of the discussion, Smith asked the clerk of the board to change his vote to "aye," making it unanimous.

MRS. LOPTIEN'S FUNERAL RITES

Funeral services for Mrs. Christine Loptien, 78, who died at her ranch home on North Batavia street in Orange yesterday, will be held tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., from St. John's Lutheran church, with the Rev. COUNTY WANTS PARKING LOTS

Cooperation of the board of supervisors to secure two parking lots for county employes' cars was sought today by J. E. Lloyd, chairman of the county employes committee.

He asked that a lot opposite the courthouse annex on Birch street, which would handle 35 cars, and another lot on the corner of Eighth and Birch streets with a capacity of 40 cars be rented and cleaned off. Sheriff Logan Jackson volunteered men to clean the lots if the board would rent the property.

The request was referred to the district attorney.

FORD INSISTS BETTER TIMES ARE IN OFFING

DETROIT. (AP) — Henry Ford, back at work after a two months' vacation on his Georgia plantation, reiterated in an interview today his conviction that a prosperous era is ahead, talked about wars, dictatorships and immigration, and said he was plunging into preparation for volume production of his cheap tractor.

"Nothing that has occurred during the last few weeks," he said, "has changed my belief that a prosperous era is ahead of us. It will come through a greater realization that all wealth comes from the soil and that there must be a greater cultivation of the land."

Ford, nearing his 75th birthday anniversary, said he had spent much of his Georgia vacation conducting experiments with his new tractor.

CONVICTIONS NOT CHANGED

He said he has not changed his convictions about the futility of wars.

"Nobody wins a war but the financial interests that promote it and make preparations for it," he said.

Of dictatorships, he said: "If a dictatorship comes here it will be because the people have been asleep and deserve it." He added, however, that a dictatorship or the threat of such a condition did not alarm him. "There will be a way to handle it or destroy it if it comes," he said.

Of his back-to-the-farm philosophy, Ford said he was convinced a greater production of the soil would lead the way to general recovery.

AGE AND YOUTH

"We built a tractor nearly 25 years ago," he said, "and while we didn't make any money on it, we did contribute to general business improvement by increasing the farmer's purchasing power."

Ford said he found no justification for curtailing immigration quotas. "The nation," he said, "is big enough to absorb any or all of those peoples unable to find happiness and comfort in their home lands."

Apparently in excellent health, Ford went back to work with the parting comment that a combination of youthful vigor and mature wisdom is needed to conduct the world's affairs.

"Deprive the world of the brains of men and women above 50 years of age," he said, "and everything must come to a standstill. Neither age alone nor youth alone can run the world's affairs. A cross section of both is needed."

LERIDA FEARS REBEL ADVANCE

BARCELONA. (AP)—The civilian population is leaving Lerida, key city 80 miles west of here in the path of the insurgent drive into Catalonia.

The approach of the insurgent armies and frequent air bombardments of Lerida are hastening the evacuation of noncombatants.

Persons arriving from Lerida, however, said there were no signs of mutiny in that industrial city of 35,000. Insurgent dispatches asserted the occupants of Lerida were quarreling over surrender of the city and that insurgent aviators had seen white flags on many housetops.

Probate Petition For Will of Jewell

A petition to probate the will of the late Alfred Jewell, who died last Dec. 19 at Spokane, Wash., was filed in superior court here today by Fred J. Smith of Seal Beach, who asked for letters of administration in the $15,000 estate.

The will named Mrs. Harriette J. Jewell executrix and chief beneficiary. Total annual income from the estate was estimated at $2400.

Customer

Joseph "Peter Piper" Penner, well known and well liked radio comedian, has lost all interest in ducks, and wouldn't care to take on any additional "quackers." What Joe really is interested in, is what goes on among his listeners in Santa Ana. While Tom E. Danson, The Journal's radio newscaster and radio editor, was doing his "Studio Snoopin'" he showed Joe a copy of The Journal. Joe immediately became a Journal subscriber—three months' worth.

Diver Still Laughs at Death

Given three hours to live after his broken body was recovered from San Francisco Bay, into which he dived from the San Francisco Bay Bridge a year ago, Ray Woods, St. Louis professional diver is shown helping his attractive wife with the dishes as he talks of throwing away his crutches in a couple of months. Woods' back was broken in the 185-foot plunge.

8 WOMEN ON WEST JURY

Ness street, Santa Ana, was excused to go to a hospital for treatment. Stipulations excused D. H. Westmoreland of Huntington Beach, former county sanitary inspector whom West had discharged.

Challenges for cause excused Fred R. Ross, auto salesman of 316 South Main street, Santa Ana, who admitted he was a close personal friend of George Thompson, grand juror; and Hazel E. Dane, 904 North Flower street, Santa Ana, whose uncle, Fred Chapman, was on the grand jury which accused West.

Menton and Turner used peremptory challenges to excuse Henry Bashford, 2119 Bush street; W. S. James, 1216 West Third street; Mrs. Dolan Hansen, Laguna Beach; J. W. Potts, Fullerton; Mary A. Johnson, Westminster; C. B. Hill, route 2, Santa Ana; Effie M. Walker, Yorba Linda; Lula Huscroft, Orange, and Lee L. Alderman, 1073 West Second street.

Peremptory challenges by Hervey and McKinney, in this order, excused:

Clara Gordon Richmond, Orange; Walter H. Spiker, Costa Mesa; Carl N. Sanborn, Orange; George C. Perkins, 2415 Riverside drive; Grace P. Chase, Costa Mesa; George Sunbury, Orange, and W. A. Goodwin, Fullerton.

The jury, finally accepted by prosecution and defense at 3:15 p. m. yesterday after two hours and 50 minutes of examination and sworn in by Court Clerk Clyde Bruce:

Mrs. Marvin Colvin, Huntington Beach, wife of a gasoline chemist, who had to answer the 90 defense questions one by one, as the first juror called.

F. W. Meisel, 606 North Garnsey street, Santa Ana.

Mrs. Helen Anderson, 1909 North Greenleaf street, Santa Ana, sister of Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Mrs. Ruth W. Berry, 1918 Valencia street, Santa Ana, who last year divorced "Col." Alvin B. Berry, editor of a local weekly.

George S. Carroll, 211 Commercial Bank building, Santa Ana, who said he knew West "hadn't spoken to him in 10 years," assuring the court it was only because he hadn't seen West.

William A. Dolan, Buena Park, former Anaheim banker.

Mrs. Genevieve Lacy, 705 South Broadway, Santa Ana, wife of Mark Lacy.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, Anaheim.

Mrs. Ida M. Burnett, 517 West First street, Santa Ana, accepted without questions by people and defense.

Mrs. Clara Holland, Yorba Linda clubwoman.

Mrs. Opal Brastad, Anaheim clubwoman, who admitted knowing three grand jurors "casually."

Frank E. Ellsworth, Newport Beach, who said he never had heard of the "political ring" or "old guard."

Falling Star Seen Fall Off Alcatraz By Presido Soldier

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Police concluded today a brilliant green hued meteorite had fallen into San Francisco bay a half mile west of Alcatraz federal prison about 9 o'clock last night.

A presidio soldier telephone police he had seen an "airplane" dive into the bay near Golden Gate bridge.

A coast guard cutter dispatched to the point found nothing, but the coast guard station at Point Bonita, on the north portal of the Golden Gate, said a "falling star" was seen.

Belgium Accredits Envoy to Italy King

ROME, (AP)—Belgium today became the ninth nation to accredit a diplomatic representative to Italy's ruler, Vittorio Emanuele, as king and emperor.

Italians interpret this as recognition of the empire and the conquest of Ethiopia.

WEST FACES ACCUSER

statements made over matters not controlled by supervisors, came after two hours and 45 minutes of argument by Edgar Hervey, defense counsel, and Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner.

Thus West, whose counsel said yesterday they were "prepared to prove statements" made by him against other county officials, will not be called up to prove them.

He also will not be tried on charges he attempted to obstruct law and order in the 1936 citrus strike and incited others to resist law enforcement.

A packed courtroom saw the second day's proceedings in the West ouster case, climax of bitter attacks by West on county officials who resisted the board's salary ordinance.

"Capt." Don Wilkie of Laguna Beach, son of a former secret service chief, and candidate for sheriff, was seen constantly about the courtroom. He whispered to defense attorneys during the selection of the jury yesterday, and left the courtroom when the jury was excused for the afternoon.

Other spectators included Charles McLauchlan, the county's No. 1 Communist; Barbara Brooks, Costa Mesa liberal; Mrs. West, busily taking notes; Elmer Guy, candidate for Menton's job, and Sheriff Logan Jackson, target for West's blasts.

Menton's opening statement to the jury at 10:55 a. m. today explained proceedings by which the tax-burdened Broadway district in Laguna was liquidated, with Wood acting as mediator. West also is charged with soliciting $1000 from A. H. Fanning of Laguna, large property-holder in the district, on the alleged promise he could save Fanning $5000 in his contribution.

B. Z. McKinney of Santa Ana, associated with Hervey as defense counsel, went into the proceedings further, indicating he would attempt to show that supervisors were not officially concerned at the time West assertedly solicited the $1200.

Wood took the stand just before noon recess, and Menton was reading Wood's plan for liquidation when court adjourned to 2 p. m.

Escaped Felons Still at Large

PETROS, Tenn. (AP)—Seven of 38 convicts who escaped from Brushy Mountain State prison early Sunday by blasting their way from a state-operated coal mine still were fugitives today.

Warden Scott Swafford said an inquiry would be started as soon as the missing men are recaptured.

E. B. Jones, mine superintendent, said the break had not disturbed prison routine and added, "we're operating the mines as usual."

THEFT CHARGE

Elmer Lety, 39, 504½ North Main street, was arrested yesterday on charges of stealing $25 worth of plumbing tools from Hervey A. Weller, 615 East First street. The theft occurred early yesterday morning at Weller's shop, 807 East Fourth street.

TORNADO KILLS FIVE SWEEPING OVER 2 STATES

FERRIDAY, La. (AP)—Five persons were killed and at least 24 others injured by tornadoes in Arkansas and Louisiana last night and early today.

A narrow-diameter storm killed three and injured seven in the Turtle lake section, three miles west of here, today. Two children were killed and 11 persons hurt when a tornado destroyed five farm homes a few miles northeast of Texarkana, Ark., last night.

Thirty homes were damaged and a dozen persons injured when another tornado cut through a residential section of Gurdon, Ark., late yesterday. Telephone and power service were disrupted by the blow, and city officials estimated the damage at more than $80,000.

The storms were accompanied by heavy rain and lightning.

The Louisiana storm swept a path of about a mile along the Jonesville highway, demolishing two homes and damaging several others, then bounced away over Turtle lake, a small body of water. Manson Curso, 38, and his two sons, Johnny, 15, and Clifford, 9, were crushed to death when their home collapsed.

The Arkansas victims were Charles Barnett, 4, and Billy Ray Davis, 2.

NEW DEAL TO AID UTILITIES

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The administration set out today to encourage the utility industry to proceed with its construction programs, free of any immediate threat of compulsory reorganization.

The Securities commission, following its victory in the supreme court yesterday, said holding companies would be given a "reasonable time" to simplify their structures.

The court decision, upholding constitutionality of the registration provisions of the public utility act of 1935, revived discussion of the simplification of these companies, often called "the death sentence" provision.

The court approved that part of the law requiring holding companies to register with the Securities commission and file detailed information. In effect, the court said utilities could not complain about simplification orders until such orders were issued.

KANSAS CITY VOTES TODAY

KANSAS CITY. (AP)—Tom Pendergast sent 6000 precinct workers into the field today to bring out the votes he hoped would return his Democratic organization to the city hall for four more years.

On the outcome of today's election also may depend the organization's future in state politics, in which it now is dominant. Pendergast-supported officials have controlled the city hall 12 years.

Headed by Mayor Bryce B. Smith, up for re-election, the Democratic ticket faced a coalition slate led by Col. Fred Whitten, a Democrat and lawyer. Coalitionists counted 4000 precinct workers.

Jaysee Club Affair Postponed

Junior college men's inter-club stag, scheduled for last night in Andrews gymnasium, has been postponed until after Spring vacation, Ken Oliphant, secretary of Buccaneers, announced today.

All campus service clubs are expected to compete by presenting numerous skits and events. Buccaneers will be in charge of the annual stag.

Britons Watch Nazi Police

LONDON. (AP)—Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, assured the House of Commons today British authorities were "closely watching" alleged activities of the German secret police in England.

CHECK ARREST

David Warren Baxter, 28, transient, was brought back to Santa Ana from Nevada City, Calif., yesterday to face fictitious check charges. Police Officers C. W. Wolford and Chester S. Gross went to the northern city to get Baxter.

ELEVEN DAYS WITHOUT SALES WORRIES MEXICO SILVER MART

Production Curtailed 65 to 75 Per Cent Following U. S. Suspension of Buying

MEXICO CITY. (AP)—The lack of foreign markets pressed urgent problems today upon the Mexican government's newly acquired oil industry. There have been 11 days without sales abroad since the government took over 17 American and British oil companies on March 18, and the nation's oil tanks are filled near to capacity.

Production has been curtailed 65 to 75 per cent, but even so it appears there soon will be no place to house the "black gold."

The problem of storage space is epecifically technical, but its broader aspects embrace economic adjustment.

The suspension of purchases of Mexican silver by the United States treasury started the peso on a rapid decline. Mexicans believe suspension was in retaliation for expropriation of the $400,000,000 foreign-owned oil industry.

Some fear that the United States now is considering also an upward adjustment of tariffs on Mexican goods—this fear based on Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's statement Sunday that the United States intended to review commercial and financial relationships with Mexico.

Declining business sales were noted here. One leading department store said sales were off 50 per cent. One of the largest tire houses reported "not a single sale" last week or yesterday.

A representative automobile dealer said he had sold only a third of the cars he would have sold normally in a similar period. He attributed the sales made in part to a desire by patrons to convert the slumping pesos into merchandise.

The peso went as low as 4.70 and 4.90 to the dollar in late street trading after the close of banks yesterday, a drop of 660 to 80 points since Saturday.

Regular foreign exchange dealings were suspended by the Central bank of Mexico with expropriation of the oil industry, so trading was with private banks.

ANOTHER CENT SHAVED FROM SILVER PRICE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The treasury shaved another cent off its price for foreign silver today.

Following a similar one-cent reduction yesterday, which was the first change in more than two years, the price today was cut to 43 cents per ounce.

The action, which many observers believe is directed at Mexico because of its expropriation of American oil properties, will make it more difficult for Mexico to sell its silver abroad. The treasury has discontinued its former purchases of 5,000,000 ounces of Mexican silver monthly.

Today's reduction apparently confirmed fears of London silver speculators that the United States was withdrawing its support of the world price.

Yacht Sold To Seattle Firm

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—On a bid of $5000, the three-masted 142-foot auxiliary schooner Sanwan passed to new owners today.

The vessel, built in Seattle in 1918, was bought at a federal marshal's sale by the Lake Washington shipyards, Seattle. The Sanwan was brought here last December for a prospective South American cruise.

Rites Today For Flood Victim

ONTARIO. (AP)—Funeral services were arranged today for Melba Lackey, 6, drowned with her mother and brother in the March 2 flood. The little girl's body was found in San Antonio wash yesterday, while the others were recovered soon after the disaster.

WEED WARNING

City council last night granted permission to the city engineer for posting property ridden with weeds, warning the taxpayers they must remove the nuisance within a stipulated time or undergo the expense of letting the city do it for them.

2 MILLION ART SUIT POSTPONED

NEW YORK. (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice Salvatore A. Cotillo has postponed for a week the $2,000,000 suit brought by Carl W. Hamilton, American dealer and collector, against Baron Duveen of Millbank, international art dealer.

Hamilton's suit is based upon the charge that Lord Duveen's remarks about two masterpieces of painting deterred prospective buyers from bidding nine years ago.

The works in question were "crucifixion," by Piero Della Francesca, and "The Madonna and Child," by Fra Filippo Lippi.

CHAMBER URGES REBUILDING OF ENTIRE SYSTEM

Further Funds From State Promised

Huntington Beach's chamber of commerce directorate last night voted to back the Talbert farmers' protest against the joint outfall sewer district's present handling of sewage.

In the meantime, the district today received assurance from Governor Frank Merriam that he would make an allocation of state funds for "removal of a possible health menace" here along the joint outfall sewer as soon as engineering data is available.

A delegation of the farmers, headed by Thomas V. Talbert, appeared before the beach directors telling them of their viewpoints in the matter. The directorate subsequently urged complete reconstruction of the line with a nonbreakable pipe and erection of separate disposal plants. They also opposed placement of reservoirs on "51 acres of land" near the screening plant.

From Sacramento, comes word that danger of pollution of ocean beaches is seen when the Santa Ana river reaches a low water stage. At present the current is strong enough to carry refuse out to sea. Engineer McBride of Santa Ana and Engineer E. P. Hapgood of Anaheim will go to Sacramento Thursday to discuss plans with state officials and ask for funds.

MRS. D. O. KING FUNERAL RITES

Funeral services for Mrs. Dora O. King, who made her home for the past 15 years with her daughter, Mrs. Merle Ramsey of Laguna Beach, will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. from the Brown and Wagner funeral chapel. Mrs. King died Saturday night following a heart attack. She had resided in Orange county for the past 25 years. Mrs. Ramsey was with her son Merle, jr., who was undergoing an emergency appendicitis operation, at the time of Mrs. King's death.

She is survived by two sons, Earl of Winchester, Ohio; and Oscar of Parkersburg, West Virginia; three daughters, Mrs. Ramsey of Laguna Beach, Mrs. T. B. Goossen of Gardena, and Mrs. James Howarth of Los Angeles; and ten grandchildren.

Moran Gang Member Nabbed

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Police announced the arrest here of Frankie isher, 35, identifying him as a member of the notorious Bugs Moran gang of Chicago, on suspicion of violating the state narcotic law and on suspicion of robbery.

B. G. Anderson and W. C. Burns, detective lieutenants who made the arrest, said they also took into custody Fisher's companion, Miss Gertrude Coleman, 40, for questioning concerning a robbery.

Anderson said Fisher tossed an opium pipe, lamp and other paraphernalia into the street as the police automobile approached.

Fisher once was questioned here regarding the Jake Lingle murder case in Chicago, but was released.

FDR Considering Ships' Purchase

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The justice department reports President Roosevelt has requested an opinion on whether the maritime commission has authority to purchase three vessels operated in the intercoastal service by the American Lines Steamship corporation.

The ships are the California, Virginia and Pennsylvania, operating between New York and San Francisco.

The commission's proposal to acquire the ships and transfer them to the South American service has been opposed by California congressmen.

Werner Re-trial Date Is Set

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Erwin P. Werner, former city attorney, and his wife, Helen, are on Superior Judge Thomas L. Ahmrose's calendar today for re-trial on criminal charges.

They are accused of attempted grand theft and of soliciting William McNeil to commit bribery. The jury in the first trial last October disagreed.

COUNTY WAITS NEW 'WILDCAT' OIL DRILLING

Following predictions of further attempts at oil development in the Anaheim area, county oil men were cheered today by news that a new "wildcat" well will be drilled in the Manchester boulevard district within a short time.

The A and B Oil and Gas company, headed by John C. Lucas, has staked a location near the intersection of Ball road and Highway 101, about one-half mile west of Shell company's Mathis test well, which was abandoned some time ago.

WHIRLWIND LEASING
The Mathis well was drilled following extensive geophysical exploration of the area and a whirlwind leasing campaign in which hundreds of acres were indicated to be in a possible productive area. With abandonment of the first hole, further exploration followed, and rumors have been circulated for some weeks that Shell may possibly try another wildcat in the Manchester district.

BOOM FALTERS
In the meantime, Huntington Beach's prospective drilling boom faltered somewhat with reports of much water in W. R. P. Oil company's deep-sand discovery well, which probably will be plugged back for additional production tests. Swabbing has resulted in strong water showings in the tests, it was reported. The well is located in the old sugar factory area and was hailed as a new deep-sand "find" two weeks ago.

COUNTY'S FIELD CROPS BIT LESS

Orange county's field crop returns in 1937 were slightly less than $3,350,000 as compared to more than $3,690,000 the preceding year, according to statistics compiled today by Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs. The acreage under production for 1937 was nearly 7000 greater than in 1936.

Tubbs says the average returns for the last five years for field crops have been roughly three and one-third million dollars. Lima beans still lead in production. There were 43 million pounds earning an income of about two million dollars. Other bean plantings produced ten million pounds.

Sugar beet tonnage was less than half of that produced two years ago. Income from this source was less than $200,000. Grain production was constant and a slight increase in income was shown. Total hay income increased, although production has fallen over a three-year period. Total nursery returns were $489,740.

MAN HELD IN SHAW RECALL

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Charged with falsely signing an affidavit in connection with a petition for the recall of Mayor Frank L. Shaw, Charles Fitzgerald was held for trial in superior court today.

Clifford L. Clinton, vice crusader whose committee is sponsoring the recall movement, charged the alleged falsification was a move to discredit the recall movement.

Clinton testified that Fitzgerald told him he signed the name "Jim Fiske" on the recall petition he was circulating because he was a candidate for congress and did not want his name mentioned in connection with the recall.

Furniture Movers Call Off Strike

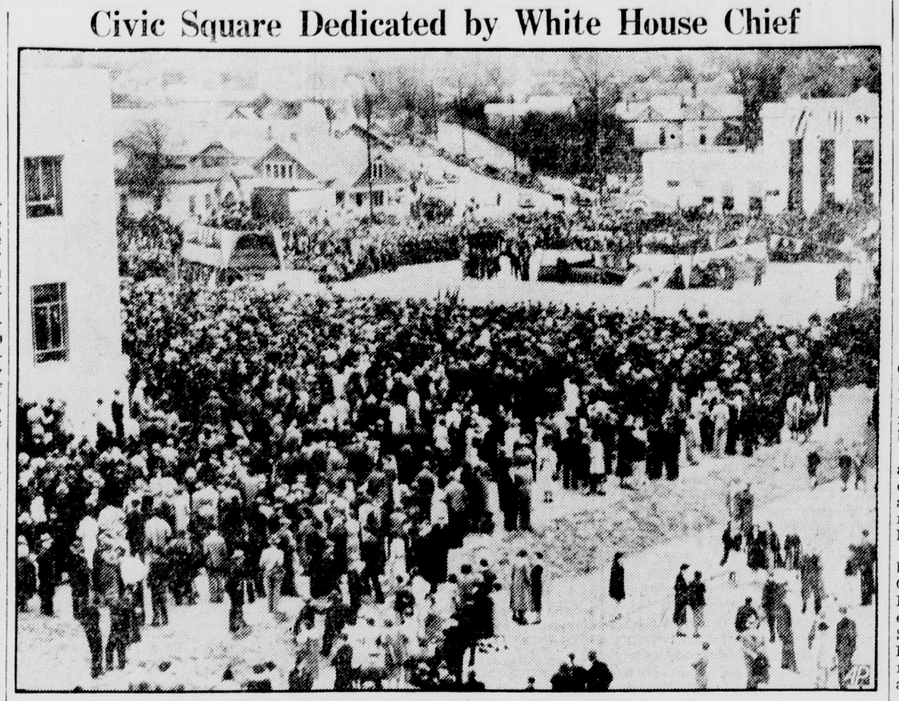

NEW YORK. (AP)—A furniture movers' strike which tied up approximately 2100 vans in Manhattan and The Bronx yesterday was ended today when the union and employers agreed to mediate their differences. The Van Drivers, Packers and Furniture Handlers' union (AFL) seeks higher pay for its members.

Question Mark?

Kay Francis (above) may end her motion picture career when she marries Baron Raven Erik Angus Barnekow, a former flyer. Her current picture may be her last, friends said today.

Civic Square Dedicated by White House Chief

Franklin Delano Roosevelt journied to Gainsville, Ga., to be received by hundreds of persons who had come from miles around to hear him make the dedication speech for the beautiful civic center that arose following the devastating tornado of two years ago. Part of the city hall is shown at the right. The square is named after the President—Roosevelt Square.

LOYOLA FATHER TO TALK HERE

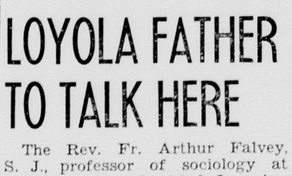

The Rev. Fr. Arthur Falvey, S. J., professor of sociology at Loyola High school of Los Angles, will discuss "Social Justice and Atheistic Communism" in a lecture at the Willard Junior High school auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Santa Ana council, Knights of Columbus, is sponsoring the event, and Grand Knight Walter J. Markel has invited anyone interested in political and sociological problems to attend the lecture. Markel and Clyde Ashen, state Knights of Columbus deputy, will conduct the meeting.

Boy Scouts Get Park Sale Permit

Boy Scout troop 28 received permission from the city council last night to serve refreshments in the Santiago park bleachers from April 1 to Sept. 30.

Granting of the troop's request for this privilege was given under the stipulation the council could stop the sale at any time "on cause."

DRUNK CHARGE
Reinhart Spersma, 40, Garden Grove, was arrested yesterday on a drunk driving charge. California highway patrolmen made the arrest west of Anaheim.

YOUTH LEADER FORUM SPEAKER

Mort Newman, executive secretary for the Southern California preparatory committee, will address members and friends of the citizens' forum this evening at 7:45 in the Unitarian church on "The California Model Youth Legislature."

The talk will tie in with the call that has been issued to the youth organization to send delegates to San Francisco in May to frame suggestions for presentation at the next meeting of the state legislature. Newman is executive secretary for the Southern California preparatory committee. He represents the Christian Youth council on the All Nations foundation, and was for many yearss an Epworth League executive for Southern California.

Newman will be introduced by the Rev. Calvin Emerson Holman, minister of the First Methodist church here. William Beeman will present a musical prelude.

Stephenson to Talk On Former Flood

Terry E. Stephenson will discuss the flood of January, 1916, at the Orange County Historical society's monthly meeting in Bowers Memorial museum at 8 p. m. Friday.

"A visit to Santa Catarina Mission, Lower California," is topic of the second featured talk, which will be given by Don Meadows, Secretary S. M. Davis announced today.

SEWAGE MEET
The California Sewage Works association invites Santa Ana's city councilmen to its tenth annual spring conference in San Diego April 11 and 12.

The city council last night voted to put the matter up to the sewer and water committee for naming a delegate to the conference.

DOCTORS' CARS STILL VICTIMS OF DOPE THIEF

The dope thief who ransacked cars of three physicians Sunday expanded his activities last night and raided two more doctors' cars in Santa Ana.

Dr. Stella K. Davis, 2205 Greenleaf street, reported theft of a medical kit worth $100 from the car she parked in the 200 block on North Broadway, and Dr. C. E. Olewiler, 521 West Nineteenth street, said his medical bag, containing some morphine, was stolen from the car in front of his home between 6 and 7 p. m.

Police indicated the drug thief apparently was familiar with the community and either was a drug addict himself or was making the raids with the idea of peddling the loot.

Thefts Sunday were from cars belonging to Dr. Paul Rumph, Dr. C. E. Paul and Dr. P. B. Gillespie. Dr. Rumph's car was at St. Joseph's hospital, Dr. Gillespie's at Santa Ana Valley hospital, and Dr. Paul's was parked in his garage at 232 South Olive street, Orange.

School Motion Pictures Scheduled

Motion pictures of Spurgeon school pupils will be shown at the program to be given at the school auditorium Friday at 2 p. m. for the children's matinee, and again at 7:30 p. m. for parents and other guests, under the sponsorship of the P.-T. A.

A one-act comedy entitled "Waiting for the Train" will be enacted by members of the Spurgeon P.-T. A. executive board. There will also be a short musical program and a penny candy sale. An especially low admission price for children will be in effect for the matinee.

Chicken Thief Strikes Again

Although there were no tracks from the crepe-soled tennis shoes, deputy sheriffs today blamed theft of $20 worth of chickens from the Bryan Jones place on Chapman avenue two miles west of the county hospital to same henhouse burglar who has committed half a dozen similar thefts in the past few weeks.

The most recent raid netted a rooster and nine laying hens. It occurred between 7 and 8:30 p. m Sunday.

Speeders Fare Badly in Court

Three fines for speeding and one for drunk driving were highlights of City Judge J. G. Mitchell's traffic session yesterday. Those fined: Fred Strong, Santa Ana, $200 ($50 suspended) for drunk driving; Bernice A. Carlson, Balboa, and Phyllis D. Hall, Laguna Beach, $6 each for speeding, and Albert H. Macres, Anaheim, $11 for speeding and failure to appear. Eleven overtime tickets were brought into city court.

ROAD ESCROW
The city council last night authorized Councilman Joseph P. Smith to sign escrow instructions for the purchase of property right of ways on Broadway from Borchard to Edinger for the purpose of opening the area to a roadway 80 feet in width.

Brick Dust

RAMBLING AROUND ORANGE COUNTY —with— T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

Should we, today, talk about kites, kittens, korn, katfish and perhaps krows of the scarce variety?

May not be such a good idea, but it fills space, anyway!

About kites, first.

Being a resident of the wide-open spaces of Costa Mesa, I'm naturally sorry for the city youngsters who must battle poles, trees and wires, especially the latter.

Out our way we have lots of fun with kites. I make 'em and Mike breaks 'em.

There was one honey the other day. It wouldn't fly until we'd attached about 30 feet of tail, but after that me'n Mike beat all the other kids in the neighborhood for distance. It finally tangled with a rooftop or something, and so now I'm going to find it necessary to make another.

* * *

Annually, however, the electric company warns kids about flying their kites near live wires—they'd better remember those warnings, or they're due, maybe, for a shock!

* * *

As for kittens, betcha I'm going to have some to give away pretty quick. Anyone interested?

* * *

And that korn, dear, oh, dear!

I planted a couple of long rows in some of our wide-open spaces. Since a week ago Sunday I've been digging out kernels every day or so to see how they're getting along.

Finally yesterday I discovered some of the seeds with long sprouts on 'em. Cheering lustily, I called in neighbors. They weren't very excited. In fact, someone pointed out that the sprouts were growing downward instead of upward.

Now I don't know exactly what to do about it. If they're roots, fine. But if they're shoots, I'll have to dig down about six feet to harvest my corn. My, oh, my!

* * *

Katfish? Sure, we still have 'em! Reports still come in about fine catches as a result of the storm. Gee, and would I like to cast a cork on the waters behind Santiago dam?

Someone tells me the good-eating mudfish are biting again in Lake Elsinore, but that report's unverified.

But it's a sure sign of spring, when stories about the fish biting start to circulate!

* * *

Now for scarecrows.

Used to be folks'd erect a dummy-like critter in the potato patch, place pa's wornout overalls and an ancient straw hat thereon, and the birds'd scream and vanish instead of gobbling all the edible vegetables in sight.

But modern birds are different. Old-fashioned scarecrows mean nothing to them.

So some inventive Japanese folk down by Corona Del Mar have evolved a new bird-scaring scheme. Small windmills, with blades about two feet long, are planted all through the gardens. They whirr and whiz al lthrough the day, spurred onward by Harry Welch's much-advertised ocean breezes. Shiny bangles, tied behind the apparatus, bounce around in the breeze, and the birds stay very much away.

Pretty good, huh?

* * *

Tonight, here in Santa Ana, the Associated Chambers of Commerce will elect a new president. Or re-elect Jack Crill.

Jack's done a swell job during the past difficult year. His unfailing good humor has helped him out of several difficult situations, and I know members have enjoyed his handling of meetings.

Even if newspapers aren't allowed to vote, I'd like to cast a ballot of thanks for his excellent work!

* * *

Incidentally, Howard Irwin, that Republican from Fullerton, is head of tonight's nomination committee.

It'll be funny if he doesn't try for some sort of grass-root convention before the election.

Have you noticed Anaheim lately? That unfortunate town, terribly damaged in the flood, has shaken off its troubles and is going right ahead as if nothing happened.

The streets aren't all cleaned up yet, but the work's going ahead as rapidly as possible. Folks are still working on their homes—you would, too, if there'd been a foot or so of mud in your place!—and there's a general feeling of optimism.

They suffered a terrible blow over there—to business and home owners and ranchers, and it's quite a tribute to the rest of the county the way they've shaken off misfortune and started right in again.

* * *

But I wish they'd hurry up and get that dam built before it rains!

Birthday Party Held in Tustin

TUSTIN.—Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Moore entertained recently for a group of friends, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Skidmore and Mrs. Edith Sheller.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Sheller and Mr. and Mrs. E. Messinger of St. Paul, Minn.; E. W. Sererance of Yakima, Wash.; Mrs. F. Hitfin of Great Bend, Kans.; Mr. and Mrs. E. Marmaduke, Mrs. Abbie Hartley, Mrs. H. W. McSpadden and Mr. and Mrs. George Skidmore, all of Los Angeles.

'HARBOR DAY' PLANNED FOR HARBOR AREA

May 14 Set as Annual Inspection Date

NEWPORT - BALBOA. — Completed plans for observance of the annual "Harbor Day" at Newport-Balboa were announced by Harry Welch, in charge of arrangements, who said the affair will be held May 14 and will be featured by a luncheon in the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

Major Theodore S. Wyman, jr., district engineer, U. S. army, will be invited to attend as guest of honor, it was announced. He will be asked to discuss harbor affairs from the viewpoint of the army officials. City Engineer R. L. Patterson will contact the army engineer.

BOUCHEY NAMED

Harbormaster T. E. Bouchey will be in charge of a boat trip around the bay which will follow the luncheon, while J. A. Beek of Balboa island has been named to arrange a series of small-boat races for the same day.

A general committee to assist in planning the event was named yesterday at a meeting of the harbor committee of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. Representing the harbor committee will be Paul A. Palmer, Bouchey, Patterson and Beck. Commodores Albert Soiland, Shirley E. Meserve and H. W. Rohl of the Newport Harbor Yacht club and Commodore H. F. Batchelor of the Balboa Yacht club will represent the Harbor Regatta association. From the Orange County Harbor committee will be Rex Kennedy of Santa Ana, Ted Craig of Brea, Paul Dinsmore of Tustin and Welch.

200 TO ATTEND

Representatives of all sections of Orange county will be invited to attend the luncheon, with more than 200 persons expected to take part, it was decided.

The tour of the bay will be for district representatives to note development of the harbor district since completion of the $2,000,000 dredging and improvement project two years ago. Discussion of future steps toward ultimate development of the upper bay, which covers an area equal to the present developed area, will be a feature of the luncheon.

'BLOOD BANK' FOR HOSPITAL

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Savings of more than $10,000 annually are expected from a newly established "blood bank" at the general hospital, County Charities Superintendent Rex Thomson said.

The "blood bank" is a special refrigerator in which blood is kept, making it instantly available for transfusions.

Blood taken from the "bank" may be replaced by donations from friends and relatives of transfusion patients, thereby reducing the purchases from professional donors, to whom $23,000 was paid last year.

U. S. Consul to Solve Dispute on Tuna Clipper

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—The tuna clipper Sea Tern, her captain and radio operator reported at odds, was bound today for Guaymas, Mexico, and a solution of the dispute by the American consul.

The row first came to light Friday in a message from Operator E. J. Van Jaynes to Federal Shipping Commissioner A. L. Woodruff at San Pedro. "Fear death aboard ship. Captain abusive, apparently insane," the radiogram said.

Woodruff advised that the consul at Guaymas be consulted, since the Sea Tern was in Mexican waters near Tortuga island.

The Van Camp Sea Food company later reported receipt of a message from Capt. Raymond Dragich in which he told of Van Jaynes refusing to obey orders. The Sea Tern would put in at Guaymas, he said. There was no indication the dispute involved the other 10 crewmen.

Munson Officials Ask Sale of Ships

NEW YORK. (AP)—Captain Sidney Henry, general manager of the Munson Steamship company, said here he had filed a petition in federal court seeking permission to sell $1,650,000 worth of Munson properties to the United Fruit line.

The petition, filed under section 11-B of the bankruptcy act, will come up for hearing April 13.

Among the properties were listed the 6484-ton cruise ship Munargo, a warehouse and pier at Havana, Cuba, a bathing beach named "Paradise Beach" at Nassau, and several barges.

Nonpartisan Labor For Shaw's Recall

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A Los Angeles political program by labor nonpartisan leabue has pledges of support from delegates of 37 trade unions of both C. I. O. and A. F. of L. affiliations.

Three points accepted by the delegates were:

Recall of Mayor Frank L. Shaw.

Greater flood prevention measures.

Elimination of "one-man" street cars.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

Miss Jane E. McKee, secretary of Santa Ana Club No. 6, reports that the meeting last week was very interesting and that E. E. Eldredge and Mrs. Belle Comfort gave a wonderful entertainment. Grant Henderson led the community singing and gave several readings. Mr. Haskell contributed piano numbers and C. E. Stovall played the mandolin and harmonica. This club meets in the community building of the First Christian church at 7:30 tonight. It will be a sad meeting tonight, as the word has come that Mrs. Bell Comfort passed away Saturday morning at her home on Riverine street. Last week she was the life of the club meeting—today she is gone to that land from which no traveler ever returns.

The passing of this estimable lady with such unexpectedness calls to mind the many who have been thinned from the ranks of the Townsend club membership by death since the beginning of the movement. Made up in the beginning of elderly people as the Townsend clubs were, it was inevitable that many would never live to see the Townsend plan enacted into law and thus be able to enjoy the benefits which would result. The writer believes, however, that those who contribute to the Townsend cause are helping lift their fellowmen up to a new high standard of living privileges and that in the great beyond if there is such a thing as a reward for worthy efforts here, that a suitable one will be theirs. He points out that every Townsendite should perform their services with the idea of helping others instead of helping self. Do what you do for the Townsend cause for that reason and you will get great satisfaction out of your work. Then if you fail to be here when the Townsend plan becomes law it will not matter as other compensations will be yours.

Santa Ana Club No. 8 will meet at 7:30 this evening in Townsend hall with J. H. Nicholson, president, in charge of the business meeting. This club will sponsor a big meeting on April 9.

Mrs. Maude Miller, secretary of Santa Ana Club No. 5, reports a splendid meeting last week. She also reports that 24 new members have been added to the club since Feb. 1. Tonight at 7:30 this club will meet in the Richland Methodist church at South Parton and Richland avenue for a business meeting. Walter R. Raugh, a brother of Mrs. Miller, and president of the club, will be in charge.

The writer was in Orange Saturday, contacted H. W. Larson, president of Orange Club No. 1, and learned that the club will meet at 7 p. m. this evening for business and later listen to an address by the Rev. H. C. White, a colored minister of Long Beach.

Costa Mesa Club No. 3 meets each Tuesday evening in the Townsend club building located at 2204 Newport boulevard. The correspondent failed to send in particulars for tonight's meeting.

The Anaheim club meets at 7:30 tonight in the Townsend club building, 210 South Clementine street, with Ida A. Freeman, president in charge.

The Santa Ana Townsend hall administration board is scheduled to meet at 7:30 tomorrow evening in Townsend hall with Phillip S. Doolittle, president, presiding.

The Buena Park Club No. 1 is preparing for a large crowd next Thursday evening when, under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Rockwell, a cast of her selection will put on the play, "The Pepperdine Family of Grasshopper Runn." The affair will be staged in the Woman's clubhouse at Eleventh and Grand streets, according to Mrs. F. B. Parks who is the secretary of the Buena Park club.

ORANGE 'Y' DRIVE OPENS

ORANGE. — Mrs. Charles Van De Water, prominent Y. W. C. A. worker in Southern California and member of the Long Beach Y. W. C. A. advisory council, was speaker last night at the first annual Y. W. C. A. dinner which opened the campaign to raise $1800 for the 1938 budget.

The dinner was held in the Orange Woman's clubhouse, which had been decorated with the "Y" colors. Mrs. Fred Bewley, president of the local Y. W. C. A. board, presided as toastmaster.

Introduced by Mrs. Bewley as active workers in the Orange "Y" work were Sheldon Swenson, Y. M. C. A. secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Robinson, Y. W. C. A. secretary; A. Haven Smith and C. I. Thomas. Mrs. Percy J. Green, former president of the board and now chairman of the drive for funds, spoke briefly. Mrs. Alex Chastain, new treasurer of the board, also was introduced.

The program was presented by local Girl Reserve clubs.

EASTER RITES ANNOUNCED

ORANGE.—Plans for an Easter sunrise service to be held on "The Knowl" in Orange Park acres, were announced Monday by the Y. M. D. club of the Y. M. C. A., which is in charge.

Bishop E. R. Driver of Los Angeles will speak. At present he is en route home from Florida, but has consented to participate in the service, Everett Claypool, chairman of the program committee, said.

Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the Orange Presbyterian church, will recite Van Dyke's "God of the Open Air," and Miss Virginia Claypool will sing. Wayne Herzig, Stewart Gibson, Allan Nail and Harold Yost, all of Santa Ana, will play instrumental numbers.

The committee of the Y. M. D. in charge of the event includes Marion Disbennett, Everett Claypool and Ralph Bandick.

GROVE SCHOOL PLAY SLATED

GARDEN GROVE.—The comedy-mystery play "Wings of the Morning" has been selected for the annual presentation of the senior class of the Garden Grove Union High school for this year. The play, directed by D. S. Johdan, will be given the evening of April 8 in the school auditorium.

Heading the cast is Edwin Moore who takes the part of Mark Geoffrey, a wealthy philosopher and philanthropist. Other players will be Dorothy Swenson, Evelyn Rhode, Edna Uyeno, Dan Head, Bob Stronge, Tom Sullivan, Eleanor Clemons, Ellen Jane Jordan, Joyce Arkley, Anna Mae Devine, Irma Watters, Eva Gilbreath, Joe Allen and Jack McConnell.

H. B. COUNCIL HIRES WORKER

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Richard Beeson was awarded a contract by the city council last night to act as supervisor of city parks, with a salary of $150 a month.

Beeson was a graduate of the Huntington Beach High school with the class of '37.

John H. Ganes was given a three-year contract to run live bait boats off the Huntington Beach pier. The contract has an option extended two years, depending on service received. The boats must be insured.

Two hundred and fifty chairs will be purchased by the city at a cost of $1.37 each, it was decided, to be placed in the newly completed clubhouse in Lake park.

Cast of Tustin Play Honored

TUSTIN.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robinson was the scene of a get-together party Friday night after the presentation of "The Unnamed Comedy" at the high school. Invited were the cast of the play and assistants.

Mrs. Robinson was assisted in serving refreshments by Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brooks, Mrs. L. R. Stearns, Mrs. Casey, Mrs. J. D. Campbell and Mrs. May Borum.

Others present were Miss May Rose Borum, Barbara Baker, Robert Newcomb, Bill Robinson, Lois Casey, Robert Atwood, Mary Ellen Anderson, Robert Arnold, Chester Stearns, Betty Brooks, Elizabeth Campbell, Robert Marshall, Therma Hansen, Jean Salisbury, Kiyoshi Misawa, Perry Cooper and Richard Lindsey.

Something to Know About Griddle Cake

In baking griddle cakes rub the hot griddle frequently with salt tied firmly in a piece of cloth. The griddle will then be freed of bits of extra batter and the griddle cakes will not be so likely to stick.

TUSTIN GUESTS

TUSTIN.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bozeman of Los Angeles and Mrs. Elizabeth Bozeman of Long Beach were visitors in the home of Carl Becker Sunday.

K. P. DINNER TONIGHT

TUSTIN. — Members of the Knights of Pythias will hold an open dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. today. The dinner will be served by the Pythian Sisters drill team.

Golden Bear's Official Lion Hunter

Jay Bruce (above) has killed 541 mountain lions in California since he has been hunting the predatory animals for a livelihood. Since 1919 he has been California's official lion hunter and—likes it.

GROVE POSTAL RECORD TOLD

GARDEN GROVE. — Among second class postoffices of the county the Garden Grove office stands first in the sale of United States savings bonds during the year Sept. 1, 1936 to August 31, 1937, according to data released recently by postal officials at Washington. And of the 176 second class offices of the state, there were only 27 offices recording more sales of the bonds.

The ratings were given on a per capita basis, the Garden Grove sale of the bonds during that period being $16,312.50. Clair Head is postmaster and his assistants are C. P. Bryan, Miss Eva Lake, Emmett Smith and Miss Myrtle Ziegler.

EASTER WEEK PLANS MADE

ORANGE.—Young people of the Presbyterian church will spend part of the Easter vacation week, April 11 to 14, at the church-owned camp at Idyllwild, and plans for that outing were discussed at a college age forum Sunday night after church service in the home of Mrs. Donald Smiley.

A group of older young people, the Fireside Forum, met after church services in the pastor's study in the church. Iolene Schmidt was hostess, and Eldene Watson was discussion leader. The topic was the relation of capital and labor in Orange county.

PARTY HONORS BEACH COUPLE

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bobb were honored on their 15th wedding anniversary with a crystal shower given them by Mrs. Robb's mother, Mrs. Anna Helm, and Mrs. Franklin Gager, in the Helm home recently.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Antone Borchard, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Borchard and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Borchard, all of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Rene Callens, Talbert; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gisler and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Textira, Norwalk; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Halpin, Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Squires, Wilmington.

Baptists Hear Bible Workers

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — A deputation of young people from the Bible Institute of Los Angeles entertained the Baptist church congregation at the evening's service Sunday.

Included in the program were vocal selections by the B. I. girls' trio consisting of Victoria McIntosh, Jane Goodner and Janet Nowlan. The Gracia-Groves accordion ensemble of Oceanview played numbers.

BEATING THE FAMILY LAUNDRY TO THE CUFF

Mac Beall, Santa Ana Jaysee's five-star contribution to the University of Idaho at Moscow, is home to spend spring vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Beall, and two brothers, Solon and Dave, 601 East Third street . . . Mac, who will return April 10, says he and his giant roommate, Dick Tauber of the '37 Don eleven, like Idaho fine . . . Both are among some 50 freshmen or varsity transfers out for spring football drills. The varsity reports in three weeks . . .

The ex-Dons practiced in the SNOW for three weeks, and called it quits every day only when the snow fell too deep . . . Tauber has shifted from guard to tackle . . . Beall is out for quarterback, a blocking job . . . Tauber injured his wrist in boxing, but the sprain has responded well to treatment. He works for the sheriff at night, watching cars . . . Beall won minor letterman's sweater in swimming competition—diving and 50-yard free style.

Joe Koral, rangy kid brother of the Stars' Bomo Koral, was born two or three years too soon—as far as baseball breaks are concerned.

Our Saints used him at second base during his high school diamond career, and saw him migrate to the University of California, where he completed his eligibility last season. . . . Now the Bears are making a tour of Nebraska, Minnesota, Notre Dame and some of the Eastern universities for exhibition games. . . . Too bad—for Joe—that he isn't holding down that second sack again.

Ever see a "battle royal" in wrestling?

This department has persuaded M. J. (Bud) Levin, the Orange County Athletic club's genial promoter, to stage one of these novelties in the near future.

Levin dislikes mud-wrestling. He also thinks a woman's place is outside the ring. But there is one novelty that he will go for—and that's a "battle royal."

He plans to send six or eight wrestlers into the ring at the same time. It's a game of legalized mayhem, with the last two survivors performing an extra half-hour or so to determine the "champeen."

You should enjoy it. Watch for the date.

Souvenir seekers often cause much damage in sport. Often it is only the quick-thinking of the promoters that saves their equipment when a noted athlete turns in a record-breaking performance.

Take Dartmouth university's indoor track carnival, for instance.

Press dispatches inform us that track fans, following Glenn Cunningham's world record 4:04.4 mile, went after pieces of the Dartmouth wooden track as football fans go after the goal posts. Only quick action of gymnasium attendants saved the track from being torn to pieces.

Why wouldn't just a paper program satisfy the souvenir seekers at track meets. . . . football games, etc?

With Irvine, backbone of the Class B league, already having joined forces with the National Nightball league, a general reorganization is expected to take place Friday night when County Nightball league officials meet at the Dixie Castle.

A new set of officers will be elected to succeed Vic Ruedy of Anaheim, president, and Walt Collins, secretary-treasurer. . . . A membership of at least six teams will be sought. An opening date will be fixed. Those boys really have some business awaiting them.

Stars Enlist Softball Recruits Tonight

'DOC' SMITH STILL AFTER JIM COATES

Santa Ana Manager Plays Elks April 7

By PAUL WRIGHT

The Stars come out tonight.

Their dimmer satellites—untested rookies—have been urged to report to Manager "Doc" Smith for Santa Ana's first workout preparatory to campaigning in the National Nightball league in May.

HUDDLES WITH COATES

At the same time he issued his call for rookies, Manager Smith was in a huddle with Jim Coates, one of nightball's greatest pitchers, in an effort to retain the former Garden Grove prep star for another season with the Stars.

Coates is employed in Long Beach, and may be forced to play in the Long Beach City league.

MANAGER 'DOC' SMITH
May Shift to Outfield

Smith said drills would be held twice weekly—on Tuesday and Thursday—with all the regulars due to report a week from tonight. Stan Jacobsmeyer, former Riverside hurler, who pastimed with the Stars part of the season in '37; and Bob Mott, potentially great first baseman, already have been signed to '38 contracts. So has Fred Cartwright, City league star, but Cartwright reported for an Elks' drill last night.

Manager Smith, whose eyes have been bothering him, probably will not play second base for the Stars this year. He may shift to right field as a utility player when not directing his club from the bench—where many fans believe managers should be anyway.

DICKERS FOR PREBLE

"Doc" is dickering for George Preble of Anaheim to play second for Santa Ana, his old club. Nan Coots, Whittier giant, will be available for outfield duty, and Tommy Young is expected back at third. Charley Comstock has been granted a release—by his own request—and plans to cavort for the defending champion Valencias in his home town, Anaheim. Benjamin (Bomo) Koral, with Orange's Cubs during the latter part of the '37 grind, will return as catcher for the Stars. He has a load of color and, what's equally important, he's exceedingly popular with the fans.

Smith urges all newcomers who believe they can play ball to report to him tonight. The batting and fielding drill will be conducted between 7 and 9 o'clock.

Reformed Mungo, 'In Fine Shape,' Figures Brooklyn in Top Division

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Van Lingle Mungo, looking just as solemn as a hoot owl perched on a limb, sat back on his haunches in the Dodgers' dugout here the other day and declared he had signed the pledge.

Loafing around his Pageland, S. C., home this winter, Mungo went into a huddle with himself, added up his assets and liabilities, and arrived at the conclusion he hadn't been figuring the angles correctly.

"I haven't had a drink since before Christmas," he said, not without a touch of pride.

EXPECTS GOOD SEASON

The Great Reformation seemingly has caught Mungo and Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals the same year—the National league's two best right-handers. Dizzy has everyone confused over at St. Petersburg by his dignified actions around the St. Louis Cardinal camp.

"I'm in better shape than I've been in five years," Mungo declared. "And, if I have as good a season as I expect, you can just figure Brooklyn into that first division picture somewhere."

Van Lingle Mungo is a spirited competitor and a hard loser. He gives all he has and he goes raving mad when he can't seem to toss that ball the way he knows he can.

That was the trouble last season when he jumped the Dodgers, he says. He'd won nine games and lost only four before the fourth of July and it looked like a fine season for him. Then he hurt his arm and back pitching against the Giants. He couldn't seem to get going after that. They said the trouble lay in his tonsils. But he was no better after having them extracted. So finally he just tossed a nice roughhouse in St. Louis and took French leave of the club—drawing a suspension without pay.

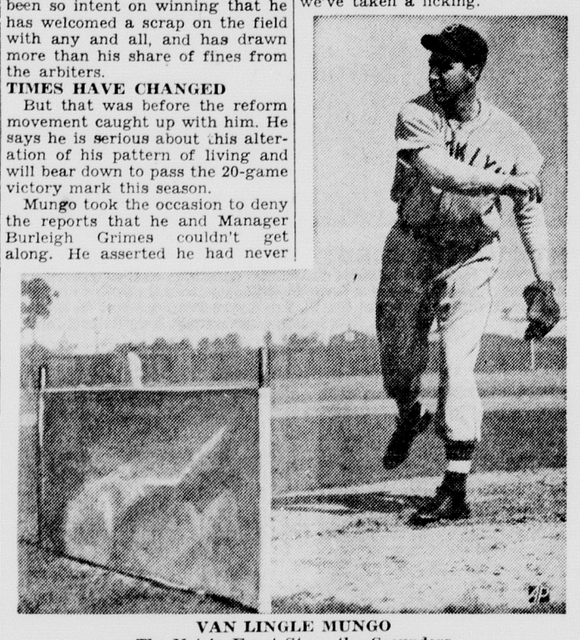

And the year before his periodic outbursts were featured by a battle royal with other Brooklyn mates in a Pittsburgh hotel. He's been so intent on winning that he has welcomed a scrap on the field with any and all, and has drawn more than his share of fines from the arbiters.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

But that was before the reform movement caught up with him. He says he is serious about this alteration of his pattern of living and will bear down to pass the 20-game victory mark this season.

Mungo took the occasion to deny the reports that he and Manager Burleigh Grimes couldn't get along. He asserted he had never said he wouldn't pitch another game for "Boily," a story that whipped about the loop after he ditched the Dodgers.

"Burleigh is all right. You're bound to disagree with other people sometime and I haven't always seen eye-to-eye with Grimes. But he's okay. He's just like me, a hard fighter, and a hard loser. Nothing tastes good to us after we've taken a licking."

LOUIS RIVAL NOT SHORT ON COURAGE

Harry Thomas Will 'Wade in' Friday

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO. (AP)—One devastating punch can turn the tide of a heavyweight battle.

That is the psychological thought Nate Lewis, the "Old Bald Eagle of Boul Mich," is drilling into Harry Thomas, the Minnesota swing man who fights Joe Lous 15 rounds or less for the heavyweight championship at the Chicago stadium Friday night.

Lewis, managing Thomas, has been connected with the ring sport since the days of Joe Gans and knows all the tricks of inspiring a fighter. He has Thomas spiritually "hopped up" and has convinced him Louis can be knocked out if Thomas will wade into him and trade punches just like Max Schmeling did in flattening the Brown Bomber.

Lewis contends that Thomas is the best conditioned heavyweight in the game today, his courage is beyond question and that he has terrific hitting power. He points to 44 knockouts in 62 fights as proof of Thomas' ability to knock them over.

"Thomas' inability to box," Lewis said today, "will be a help to him.

"Louis, being a good boxer, will naturally expect Thomas to do the things that he would do. He will find him doing things wrong, but the things he will do wrong will be done with plenty of fire. He has plenty of courage and will punch back, that's something that Max Baer wouldn't do. Baer had the ability to hit, but he didn't have the will.

"No man has ever hurt Thomas and that goes for Schmeling. They stopped the fight after the referee had given Thomas six rounds because his vision had been impaired due to a punch over the temple. Thomas couldn't see when he ran into those punches Schmeling levelled at him."

CLAIMS FARM PLAN SAVED MINOR LOOPS

'Censure Undeserved From Commissioner'

ST. LOUIS. (AP)—President Sam Breadon, replying to Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis' denunciation of the St. Louis' Cardinal's farm system, said today the plan had proved to be "the salvation of the minor leagues."

Breadon declared organized baseball owed to Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals and originator of the farm system, "more than to any man or official connected with the game."

He said Rickey was responsible for a "re-birth" of the minor leagues to their present stalwart proportions and "should receive a vote of thanks from the commissioner's office for what he had done for baseball, and not censure."

In one part of his decision on Wednesday, Judge Landis charged that the Cardinals, through Rickey, had entered into a secret "gentlemen's agreement" with Cedar Rapids of the Three-I league to control two teams in each of four minor leagues.

In reply, Breadon made the flat statement: "The St. Louis club did not control the Cedar Rapids club and it did not violate the rule that two clubs in the same league cannot be owned or controlled by any one club."

Judge Landis fined Cedar Rapids $588 and made all but one of its players free agents. He likewise ordered free agency for all players of four Cedar Rapids affiliates, Mitchell of the Nebraska league, Fayetteville of the Arkansas-Missouri, Crookston of the Northern league and Newport of the Northeast Arkansas league.

"I regret more than anything else," Breadon said in his prepared statement, "that these small leagues may now be seriously embarrassed to operate again this year, and I regret, too, the loss of jobs of a number of young players in these days of unemployment."

CROWELL WILL FIGHT TONIGHT

HOLLYWOOD TRACK A BEAUTY

1300 Workmen Pound Away

By ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Hollywood park, new $2,500,000 horse racing plant at suburban Inglewood, promises to rival anything of its kind in the nation.

Thirteen hundred workmen continue to pound away, rushing the track to completion by June 10, when Hollywood park makes its bow and bid for favor in a 33-day meeting.

The track is located on a 315-acre tract just beyond the southwestern outskirts of Los Angeles, 15 miles from the heart of the city and convenient to prosperous Hollywood, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica and other communities.

The management, headed by Walter McCarthy, Movie Magnate Jack L. Warner and an influential group of directors, has gone far to make the endeavor outstanding.

Even the often abused slogan, "The Public Be Pleased," has been taken seriously.

The place abounds with features.

It is constructed so that virtually everyone, including the ordinary general admission fan, can actually see the horses run the entire distance of the track.

Artificial lakes and waterfalls beautify the infield, and 7000 trees were bought to partially blot out the picture of oil derricks just east of the backstretch.

A huge clubroom, filled with big chairs and lounges, was included for the general admission trade.

The inclosed paddock beneath the grandstand has a surrounding amphitheater that will accommodate 3500 fans, and the grandstand betting ring is just 20 paces away.

The place will accommodate 60,000, but no one will be permitted in the infield. General Manager Jack MacKenzie explained that it would be impossible to view a race from this location, so no tickets will be sold for the infield.

He laughed at the suggestion that the infield might also be too convenient to the lakes for a dejected bettor.

Liquor bars will not be prominently placed. More prominent will be five ice cream soda fountains.

More than $100,000 in stakes, in addition to daily purses amounting to $8000, will be up for the horsemen, featured by the $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup handicap July 16 and the $15,000 Hollywood Derby July 9.

The track is not worried over the fact that most of the country's "name" horses will be running in the East. They figure in time to build up the class of entries here.

ELKS ENLIST 22 RECRUITS

Seeking positions on two teams—one for the Santa Ana City league and the other for National Elks' competition—twenty-two recruits reported to Manager Darwin Scott and Assistant Dave Styring for a brief workout in the Municipal bowl last night. A second drill will be conducted in the Sixth and Flower street stadium next Monday night.

The Elks will take on stiff competition—Santa Ana's Stars at the Bowl April 7; Orange's Cubs, at Orange April 12; Joe Rodgers' Oilers, at Huntington Beach April 26. A three-inning intra-club game was played last night, with Lyle Morse, star from Anaheim's Valencias, and Bruce Harnois of Westminster's Aviators doing the mound chores.

Included in the turnout were Johnny Joseph, co-captain of next fall's Santa Ana Jaysee eleven; Bob Mott, regular with Santa Ana's Stars; Earl Conaway; Armand Hanson, Neal Smith, Tommy Lacy, Mickey Walker, Jim Haynes, Cliff Lee, Bruce Harnois, (regular with Westminster Aviators), Lou Alein, Fred Cartwright, LeRoy Levens, Wilmer Swafford, Lyle Morse (regular with Anaheim Valencias), Leo Morse, Grochow, Dray, Jordan, Jenkins, Manager Darwin (Scottie) Scott and his assistant and regular first baseman, Dave Styring.

ORANGE GIRLS BEATEN 6-5 BY BANK NINE

Orange's Lionettes, starting the season off with a lineup almost identical to the one which was the scourge of the Southland girl softball clubs last year, found Lady Luck on the wrong side of the fence last night when the Bank of America nine of Los Angeles whipped them, 6-5, at Fairfax field, Hollywood.

The Los Angeles club, which has been in practice for more than six weeks, was out-hit 9-4 by the Lionettes who reported only last week. Lois Terry, the blonde submariner, was in rare early season form, but her infielders' support gave way from the first inning. Six errors were chalked against them and only two of the Los Angeles runs were earned.

Trailing 5-3 at the start of the fifth, Bobbie Wakeham doubled to left field and Roberta Howell, who took over shortstop duties, singled to center, scoring Wakeham. Ruth Lee, slugging first-baseman, knotted the count with an infield single which brought home Howell.

With two away in the last of the fifth, Moreland singled infield and LaHorgue's Texas league double put the game on ice for the Bankers.

The Lionette bombers got away to a fast start, tallying two in the first inning on three successive singles by Lee, Melita Forster and Phoebe Miller and a fielder's choice on Pitcher Terry's hit. In the fourth, Melba Estes blasted a three-bagger and Forster singled her home.

Manager Hod Chambers' team plays the Balians Thursday night in Los Angeles.

M'KEE REFEREES MAT CARD

Admit Women Free Thursday

"Tiger" McKee, powerful former wrestler, will be the third man in the ring on Thursday night when Marshall Carter swings back into action at the Orange County Athletic club to prove that he is a better man than the Arkansas Tarzan, Bob Montgomery, in Promoter Bud Levin's three-fall main event.

It was McKee who refereed the first women's free wrestling card staged by Levin. Another women's free night will be held Thursday. Women will be admitted free to any section of the arena when accompanied by a person making a cash purchase.

Last week Montgomery won a questionable decision from the Missouri favorite. He was given a "rolling fall" by Referee Herb Stegman.

Fans booed for more than 20 minutes and Carter refused to leave the ring. Many were of the opinion he had gone on a sit-down strike.

Backing up the Carter-Montgomery "natural," Promoter Levin has the Canadian champion, Leo Newman, meeting Jimmy Lott, former Alabama football star, in a three-fall bout. Speedy Larence opposes Ken Hollis and John Strelich, youthful brother of Steve, opens the show against Cecil McGill.

LOU AMBERS FEARED BY ARMSTRONG

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Brothers Armstrong, Henry and Harry, are in town with their own remedy (pat. applied for) for clearing up the somewhat scrambled situation in the lightweight and welterweight classes.

It's simple when you listen to the Armstrongs. Henry the Hammer will knock off Barney Ross, the welter king, in May, and then take over the lightweight domain in the fall by beating Lou Ambers, the incumbent. A stiff program, but by no means impossible.

The business at hand for Henry is a meeting with Lew Feldman, veteran New York lightweight, Wednesday night. After that the featherweight champion will take a layoff.

"He needs one," says Brother Harry, who rides herd on the negro

The Armstrongs make no secret of the fact they are more worried over Ambers than Ross.

"It's like this," says Harry. "Ross is awful smart, but he's no youngster. And he's orthodox. He stands up there and fights. That's pie for Henry. But this Ambers, he's cute. You never know what he's going to do. We made the Ross fight first because it means more money, but don't get the idea we're ducking Ambers. We'll take care of him in his turn."

HARD-WORKING MULE REFUSES TO BE OUSTED FROM COUNTY

I Just Found Out

About Notary Public

—By— MILLARD BROWNE

The persons seated behind an efficient looking mahogany desk scribbles a signature, squeezes a red wafer seal between two iron discs, then chants "That'll be 50 cents, please," as though it's the only line he's memorized.

* * *

The person is a notary public (plural: notaries public), and the picture, to the average Santa Anan, is a fairly accurate one.

* * *

Those are just highlights of the picture as the public sees it, though. It goes farther than that. There is a staggering number of documents, for instance, that notaries public are required by law to acknowledge free of charge.

* * *

Orange county's 280 notaries all get their commissions to practice from the governor (via the secretary of state); commissions are good for only four years, and only in Orange county.

* * *

A notary must collect at least 65 half-dollar fees after he gets his commission before he's "in the black." Because it costs $25 in registration and surety bond fees and from $7.50 up for a seal before he's ready to practice. (Law prescribes a $5000 bond, which costs the notary $20, as protection against any "official misconduct or neglect.")

* * *

If being a notary looks like a lucrative job, here's what you'd have to do to get a commission: Send to the secretary of state (at Sacramento, not Washington) for an application. Then get signatures of five citizens, including one local superior court judge, send the application, with affidavits and $5, back to Sacramento, and you'll get a commission if the "powers that be" think you deserve it, or if they think there's room for any more notaries in the county.

* * *

The last part usually is the stumbling block. Law provides the governor may appoint "such a number of notaries for the several counties . . . as he shall deem necessary for the public convenience," and chances are he won't deem more than the present 280 to be necessary here.

* * *

Most profitable spot in the state for notaries is San Francisco, where a special law provides there shall be only 190.

* * *

Questions most frequently asked notaries is just what their signatures mean. The answer: They're merely swearing to the fact that the persons involved is who he says he is, and that he personally acknowledged he executed the document.

* * *

Notaries do not take responsibility for the statements included in the instrument, any more than a court clerk must swear to the truthfulness of a witness whose oath he takes. The notary's only liability is where the persons involved turns out to be someone else; local notaries have been caught on it only once or twice.

* * *

Most Orange county notaries (about half are women) are affiliated with law offices, governmental units, banks, real estate firms, title companies or other organizations handling a large number of official documents.

* * *

Busiest notary in the county is Ruth Robertson, District Attorney W. F. Menton's secretary, who handles all official notarizing for the county, doesn't get a cent for it. (She does collect from private citizens who come to the courthouse to have instruments notarized, however.)

* * *

Only county officials who are allowed to have notary commissions, by the way, are those in the district attorney's and treasurer's office, though judges, recorders and clerks have power to take certain acknowledgments and oaths.

* * *

Instruments that must be notarized free: Papers pertaining to veterans' pensions, bonuses or special concessions; affidavits and other old-age security papers; absent voter ballots and oaths of election officials.

* * *

Revenue-producing documents for notaries are depositions, bills of sale, deeds and every other instrument of record, besides dozens of private transactions and contracts. Most unusual documents notarized here recently: Agreements by parties contemplating marriage as to disposition of property, custody of children in event of divorce.

8 HIGH CLUBS SET HI-JINKS FOR FRIDAY

Hi-Jinks will be presented by the eight service clubs of Santa Ana Senior High school for the sixth consecutive year, Friday, in the high school auditorium. Each service club will present a part of the entertainment, and the Alpha, honorary girls' club, will sell candy.

Delos club members will provide a musical program featuring Les Thuit and his orchestra, a skit by Wally Grigg and Russel Haney, and Richard Watson.

Girls of the Beta Phi Delta club will give their idea of a school room of 25 years ago.

Wi Tama Pi girls will present a one-act comedy. The Entre Nous club will enact an original, comical situation "Entre Nous Gone Gangster."

Sigma boys' service club will give "The Great Swami." Owls will burlesque "The Doctor's Office."

The "big apple" will be performed by the Zeta T girls' club.

Philos members will present a comedy skit.

Music preceding the performance and between acts will be furnished by the orchestra under the direction of Kenneth Heiges. Proceeds from the Hi-Jinks will be used to equip a social center for students.

Larry Stump, as president of the Inter-Club Council, is largely responsible for the success of the Hi-Jinks.

Evangelist

Emma Taylor (above) of Oklahoma will be a guest speaker at the Full Gospel Assembly at 1600 West Third street, of which the Rev. Ernest L. Friend is pastor, tonight and Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock.

DEER ESCAPE FLOOD MENACE

Deer suffered only minor losses as a result of the floods in the southern part of the state, game wardens report.

In the northern part they reached the lower levels before the heavy snows of the winter caught up with them but were waited by their arch enemies—the mountain lion, coyote and bob-cat which took a heavy toll.

The mule deer of the northeastern part suffered likewise.

'Saints' Outdo Rainbow in Fete

Color Day at Santa Ana High school brought out some peculiar costumes last Friday, but the most original and colorful were worn by (left to right) Dean Gowdy, Patsy Titchenal, Mary Corey and Jack Marr. Marr and Miss Titchenal won first prizes; Gowdy and Miss Corey were runners-up.

CHURCH NIGHT SERIES ENDING

The fifteenth annual church night series at the First Methodist Episcopal church will be concluded tomorrow. The Two-in-One class of the church school is sponsoring the dinner, served at 6:30, under the leadership of Mrs. F. R. Schweitzer.

A special service will be held during the fellowship moments for the dedication of the game equipment which has been made under the leadership of Harold Kiech of the Woodcraft class and R. H. McArthur, chairman of the recreation committee of the church. Following this Dr. Carl Knopf, dean of the School of Religion of U. S. C. will give his final lecture in his series on the prophets.

The assembly for the boys and girls will be in charge of A. J. Lasby who will show moving pictures of his world tour.

The ten classes for all the family under the leadership of Mrs. Merritt White, Mrs. Jennie Tessmann, Mrs. Helen McArthur, Halstead McCormac, Harold Kiech, R. H. McArthur, Herbert Thomas, Mrs. Frank Hildebrand and Miss Margaret Ames will conclude the series. Omar Hartzler will be the world travelers' speaker who will present a travelogue and lantern slides on "Trekking Through the Belgian Congo."

ATOM SMASHER INVENTED BY CALIFORNIAN

Coincident with President Roosevelt's proclamation for Cancer Month during April is the announcement from Philadelphia and the Franklin Institute of an 80-ton atom smasher, capable of turning ordinary table salt into a radium substitute of probable value to cancer treatment.

Dr. E. O. Lawrence, of the University of California, is the inventor. Dr. A. J. Allen, in charge of the giant electromagnet, explained it would be used to extend experiments already begun by Dr. Lawrence and others.

The apparatus, officially known as a cyclotron, is so powerful—and so sensitive—that visitors must check their watches and other metal pocket pieces at the door before entering the laboratory where it performs its twentieth century alchemy.

Its promise in the field of cancer, the scientist said, lies in its ability to isolate neutrons — uncharged nuclei of atoms. Tests already made with a dozen other cyclotrons in the United States, he said, have indicated that neutrons are as much as four times as selective as radium in killing cancer cells without damaging normal ones.

The cyclotron is expected during the course of a day to make radioactive salt equivalent to a half a gram, or $12,500 worth, of radium. When it is in operation, Dr. Allen explained, the total radiation is equivalent to that from two pounds of radium but the radiation is not concentrated.

Northfield, Minn., Picnic, Saturday

The Northfield, Minn., annual picnic will be held in Bixby park in Long Beach next Saturday, April 2. Coffee, sugar and cream will be furnished, and those attending are to bring their lunches. All Northfield friends are invited.

As a hood,
Audacity, his smile,
Dripping flattery
Where he stood,
Inveigling the while.

He snaps his constant whip
To punctuate
Relentlessly, our hire.
And, oh, a careless slip
Will actuate
A storm of hell's fire!

"EPITAPH TO VIRTUE"

Faugh! to all fine concernment
For puritanic niceties,
No less, all harsh austerities.
For these had I arrogantly swore
To renounce life's rind, pulp, and core,
Clothed in sackcloth, supping hemlock,
Proudly in acquiescent frock.
Oh vanities! estrange the heart from breast
Yields naught but sore unrest.

What! but half a loaf I merit?
Yes, 'tis kind of you to share it!

There's Wisdom in the Windmill Say Girl Guides

England's Girl Guides correspond in a general way to America's Girl Scouts. The above assembly bought a windmill in Coleshill, England, made it their headquarters and set up therein a pedestal atop of which is a sage, old owl mascot which presides over their meetings. The Girl Guides believe the owl is just about the acme of wisdom and that's what they are seeking—wisdom in all things.

180,747 MORE CARS REGISTER

An all time high record in motor vehicle registration has been reached this year in California, according to a report by the state director of motor vehicles.

A figure of 2,272,180 cars, covering January and February, represents an increase of 180,747 over the same period in 1937, the report said.

Reports show 2,040,000 pleasure cars listed, trucks exceeding 130,000, and registration of 95,000 trailers.

Old Army Orders Bring Sigh From Modern Officer

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Army officers, delving into official records of the Oregon trail days, came across this "general order No. 2" today, issued Oct. 25, 1842, at Fort Riley, Kansas:

"1. Members of this command will, when shooting at buffaloes on the parade ground, be careful not to fire in the direction of the commanding officer's quarters.

"2. The troop officer having the best trained remount for this year will be awarded one barrel of rye whiskey. All officers will wear beards."

SPECIAL COURSE ON 'DIGESTION'

SAN FRANCISCO. — Diseases that might properly be said to start from the knife, fork and spoon, are to be made the subject of a special course for all interested practitioners at the University of California Medical School, Wednesday, April 13, to Saturday, April 16, inclusive.

The course is entitled a "Short Course in Diseases of the Digestive Tract," and will cover all types of such ailments, from simple diarrhea and constipation to malignant tumors of the stomach and colon.

HALF-BROTHER TO HORSE GETS BIG FARM PLAY

Statistics Show Work Animal in Big Demand

By GEORGE COVERDALE

The mule stubbornly refuses to be ousted from Orange county. There's more of his number here today than in 1900. His sophisticated half-brother the horse, tired of farm work an unable to compete with the machine, seems to be seeking a flashier life at such places as Santa Anita, Saratoga, Belmont and Latonia. The mule, on the other hand, is content to stay at home and earn an honest living.

Figures obtained from the United States census and released today by the agricultural commissioner's office show that: in 1900 there were 871 mules in this county. Today, there are approximately 1000. In 1900, again, horses numbered 8571; today they are estimated at 2500.

Horses at the close of the gay nineties were so numerous here there was one for every two or three people, which is about the same proportion as automobiles to the population today. Now there is a horse for every 52 men, women and children.

Mules, according to experts are eagerly sought by ranchers now because they are untaxable. Farm machinery is because it uses oil and gas.

Statistics for past 37 years:

Year	Population	Mules	Horses
1900	19,696	871	8,571
1910	34,436	2268	10,565
1920	61,375	2919	7,355
1930	118,674	1744	3,217
1937	130,000	1000	2,500

Ebell Hears Inspiring Talk

Cool, clear, and refreshing as the well of life of which she spoke, Floy Bernice Palmer addressed a disappointingly small but flatteringly attentive crowd yesterday at the Ebell club. Miss Palmer entered upon her lecture career only a few years ago, shortly after her graduation from the University of Southern California with highest honors ever accorded a literature major.

"Taking Time" was the title she gave Mrs. Roy Shafer, first vice president and program chairman, as her topic, and from it she drew as clear-cut a picture of modern life, hopes and achievements as if she had stroked white cardboard with the black of charcoal before her audience.

"'So much to do and so little time to do it in,'" she quoted as preface to her likening time to a great river flowing through life. "Time is Life, we know. Life, we also know, is God, and therefore time is little bits of God, and the true atheist is one who wastes time!"

Declaring because of this preciousness of the vital element that there is urgent necessity for getting the best out of every minute, she proceeded to describe a well of pure and filtered water nearby the river of time, which in its purified state, can give constant pure and exalting matter of which to drink. That well, of literature and books, is the means whereby people of today can profit to the utmost in their span of time, taking the best, and getting the best out of everything.

Extremely careful thinking was evident in the speaker's presentation of her ideas on conditions in the world today, particularly with regard to women and the somewhat unenviable place they have assumed in the 60 years of their freedom. Also evident was the spontaneity and enthusiasm of youth in her championing of those new writers such as John Steinbeck and Clifford Odets.

Of the well she spoke, she described differing versions of it. One was the well in which we look and see only that which reflects ourselves as we wish to see ourselves—scarcely an important field of literature. Another is the type that shows beauty in sordidness, that picks out the great truth concealed in lowness and grime. This, typified in "Of Mice and Men," and in the new Odets plays, is a well Miss Palmer urged her feminine audience to drink from despite inherent Victorian shying away from the ugly type of literature.

The well that reflects the picture of what we are, not what we think we are, is also of vital interest and benefit, she said. To illustrate the point she presented several sketches from the current play, "The Women," displaying a wittiness and charming informality that won the audience even more than had her earlier poised and thoughtful demeanor.

Winding up her message of inspiration that could not help but prod sluggish minds into active thought and resolution, she described as the final type of well that which reflects the vision of what we can be, and quoted briefly from the best-seller, "The Citadel" and the wonderful "Madame Curie."

Entirely different in her presentation of current books and trends in literature, Miss Palmer awoke a gratifying and interesting response in her listeners. Those who missed hearing her missed an outstanding Ebell program.

GIRL RESERVES TO GIVE FASHION TEA

A gay fashion tea will be held tomorrow afternoon by Girl Reserves in the Y. W. C. A. rooms from 3:30 to 6 p. m. before an audience of about 200 Reserves and their mothers who will be present to witness the showing of junior misses' fashions.

Reserve members who will be models at the affair are the Misses Marcelle Jordan, Mina Lundak, Betty Haynes, Rita Hallerieth, Rovina Aronade, Melva Burke, Mildred Burke and Beverly Short, chosen by Mrs. Quentin Matson. Miss Mable Cole will direct the modeling.

Anna May Burke will play selections on the piano to form a musical background while the fashion parade goes on before the group of admiring girls and their mothers.

Rankin's will furnish the clothes to be displayed during the afternoon and Mrs. Dixie O. Michelson of the store will give a fashion talk on prevailing styles for the juniors. Publicity is in charge of Mrs. John McCoy, general chairman of Girl Reserves, while the tea hour is being planned by Mrs. K. H. Sutherland with Mrs. W. B. Hellis in charge of the tea table. Mrs. E. D. Froeschle, head of mothers' council, assisted by Miss Nora Reed and Mrs. P. H. Budd, are members of the hospitality committee.

PATRONS WILL SPONSOR TEA TOMORROW

New students who entered Santa Ana Junior college in February will be especially honored at the tea to be given Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock by the Jaysee Patrons' association at the woman's lodge on the campus.

Mrs. Hugh Plumb is in charge of arrangements. The program of the afternoon is being planned by the music department, with bits from the coming Jaysee operetta given

NOW PLAYING AT PADUA

Casilda Amador, dark-eyed ballerina, now appearing at Padua Hills in "Once in the Spring," a colorful play of early California.

Your Baby Book

By EDITH COVERDALE

Harrison Jackson, jr., wasn't exactly invited to the party in the first place, but he had the best time of anybody there, from all appearances. Mother Ruth DuBois Jackson (formerly of Santa Ana), from Inglewood, was invited, however, to spend Saturday afternoon at Blanche McCoy's house when blonde Siemsen Elsie, summerily dressed in pale blue wool with pink sash and white shoes, was showered with white pottery additions to her chosen bridal set.

Well, to get back to Harrison. As he was the most important person there, judging by the attentions showered on him, he certainly had a good time! At first he quietly played on the floor with a deck of old cards, which soon became bent beyond repair; then, noticing that games of bridge were going on at various tables, he wanted "uhh" (meaning up) in mommie's lap, where he caused much consternation by throwing in a fifth card for each trick. He was sitting right next to me, and I began to wonder if he had any of those aces I needed so badly that hand (ah, wicked temptation)!

Harrison then found the radio, turned it on, and began "swingin' it on down" right in the middle of Blanche's lovely living room, while the bridge playing was suspended to watch him. With the arrival of the pink sweet peas as decorations for the refreshment tables, Harrison wanted to smell them, and while being allowed to, he puffed like a young steam engine, practically inhaling blossoms and all. Later he had to be lifted to smell the non-fragrant white iris on the living room table which Blanche raised in her sweet little garden in back of her house.

The pangs of hunger began gnawing on young Harrison's tummy about the middle of the afternoon, and time out for refreshment ensued, while this darling blond rascal, who looks so much like his pretty mother, took a whole banana and squashed it into his mouth, all at once, like this—blubbbbb! "Harrison, is that nice?" asked mother, who is always polite, but Harrison couldn't have answered had he felt inclined. The afternoon came to a pleasant close for the young man as he shared his mommie's refreshments of a frozen pink ice cream wedding clipper and bright green frosted angel food petit fours.

Little Loretta Rathbun, who lives at 814 North Garnsey street with Father and Mother L. N. Rathbun, is beginning to sit up and take notice of the big world around her. It looks like Loretta is going to talk first, while older sister, Lorraine, who is three, walked first, but then all babies have their little differences.

Loretta has found her feet now but definitely, and delights in pulling off her booties, no matter how tight mother ties them on. She came into The Journal office to see me, and I was delighted to see this small visitor, who was a bit sleepy at the time, however, as it was just about nap time.

"You can hear her a mile away," mother said, but she was quiet and polite as a little mouse while visiting me. "I guess she's noisy like me, while Lorraine is quite like her father," Mother Rathbun concluded. She uses her eyes a lot and looks around at everything in sight, taking it all in. She has a distressing habit of pulling everything in reach over her head, nearly smothering herself, and mother is constantly rushing to the rescue.

Dennis Ogle, who was three last Wednesday, received a tool chest, a tricycle and some new clothes for his birthday. Possibly more delighted with the tool chest than any of the other gifts, he played with it all afternoon on his birthday, which was brought to a fitting close by a dinner party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Ogle, 1603 French street, to which some of Dennis' older friends were invited.

The delicious dinner, topped off by a chocolate birthday cake with pink and green frosting, was enjoyed by Dennis, his family, and the guests of the evening, Gail Finley, Jack Dietler, David Baker and Chester Dietler.

Last week I promised to find out more about little Mary West, daughter of the Franklin Wests of 321 East Santa Clara, who had her second birthday on the 21st of the month. Mary's mother said that Mary was just an ordinary average child, but I think from some of the things I found out about this attractive little Miss, that she's a bit unusual.

First of all she has a transportation complex—she's simply mad about autos, and would rather look at a booklet filled with pictures of automobiles than play with dolls. She's crazy about trains, too, and has one she winds up and runs around the house.

She talks very well, constructing logical sentences, and managing to express herself completely. Her favorite greeting when a familiar figure hoves in sight is "heigh-de-ho!" which sounds quite gay and sophisticated coming from such a small person.

Although a bit small for organized games, she has a toy piano on which she plays her own accompaniments while rendering vocal solos. I forgot to ask her mother, but I suspect she's a soprano!

Mary's aesthetic side predominates as she adores things that smell nice, especially flowers, and loves all bright colors, calling things she likes "pretty." She can recite parts of the Mother Goose rhymes, and as for clothes, which are dear to the hearts of all young misses, her favorite is a velvet dress which her auntie made for her and gave her at Christmas time. And what young lady wouldn't be proud of a velvet party gown?

HELEN TAYLOR IS HONORED AT PARTY

Miss Helen Taylor was feted on her 13th birthday anniversary Saturday with a lovely dinner party at which her mother, Mrs. Frank Taylor, 1505 North Broadway, was hostess.

A pretty table had been arranged, with tall pink tapers and pink and white flowers on a lace cloth. Garden flowers were attractively arranged throughout the rooms in which games were played after dinner.

Miss Helen received many lovely gifts, and her mother was assisted in serving by two other daughters, Miss Lois Taylor and Mrs. Bernice Shelton, as well as by Mrs. Ruth Harmer.

Present were the Misses Virginia Berkheimer, Elinor Bessler, Lois Bradley, Betty Courtney, Florence Zainbarg, Jacqueline Gehrig, Vina Mae Harmer, Jeanne Kellogg, Merilyn Kellogg, Roberta McBurney, Patty Patterson, Betty Lou Ranney, Beverly Russell, Shirley Emma Shelton and Helen Taylor.

ATTENDANCE GOAL SMASHED AT CHURCH

Outstanding among events of yesterday at the First Presbyterian church where the Los Angeles Presbyterian of Missionary societies is meeting for a two-day session was the march and dedication at 2 p. m. of 130 retiring and incoming presidents. The presidents marched double file, dividing to right and left in single columns, headed by their district vice presidents.

A record attendance of nearly 900 were present for the afternoon session Monday with over 720 present in the morning, thus exceeding the goal expected. Over 400 were served at lunch time, while coffee was served to numbers who brought box lunches with them. A spectacular event this afternoon was the march of the retired missionaries and missionaries on furlough.

FOLKS ENJOY CANYON PICNIC

A happy outing was experienced Sunday by members of Past Presidents' group of Calumpit auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, when they and their husbands gathered at the H. C. Moberly cabin at Silverado canyon.

A picnic dinner, hikes, and games occupied the day, participated in by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tantlinger, Mrs. Emma King Wassum, Robert Wassum, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook, Mr. and Mrs. William Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Helmer, Mr. and Mrs. Al Dresser, Mrs. Elva Hunt, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moberly.

Easter Bride Showered By Sorority

The approaching Easter wedding of Miss Marjorie Walton and Charles Bush of Anaheim was inspiration last night for a shower in her honor given by Miss Frances Hill, Miss Alice Whitten and Miss Daisy Carr, all sorority sisters in Delta Theta Chi.

The affair was held in the home of Miss Hill, and an effective oriental motif was carried out, with sprays of flowering peach, and Chinese suggestions in refreshments and other decorations. A bridal motif was also used.

A scrapbook of signed and illustrated recipes was made early in the evening by guests, and later Chinese checkers was played. Climax of the affair came with presentation of a lovely green and gold comforter to the honoree, as the traditional sorority gift to brides-elect.

Present at the enjoyable affair were Miss Walton, Miss Dorothy Jessee, Miss Norma Kenny, Miss Irene Ross, Miss Ann Detweiler, Miss Bette Vorce, Miss Mary Bowyer, Mrs. Martin T. Goldsmith, Mrs. T. E. McLeod and the hostesses.

PRETTY RITES UNITE YOUNG COUPLE

Miss Irene L. Lundak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lundak of Santa Ana, was united in marriage to Basil Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Davis of Indiana, at a 3 o'clock ceremony Sunday afternoon.

The bride was attired in a wool suit in kelly green with fur trim, and accessories in beige and luggage tan. She carried a small French bouquet of pink and white sweet peas centered with a white gardenia and with pink and white streamers. She is a graduate of Santa Ana High school.

Mrs. Rufus Bruce of Los Angeles, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a turquoise shirtmaker, with luggage tan accessories, carrying a French bouquet of pink and blue sweet peas. Bridesmaid was Miss Louise Lundak, sister of the bride, who wore a bolero suit in beige gaberdine, with luggage tan accessories, and carried a pink and blue bouquet similar to that of the matron of honor. Rufus Bruce of Los Angeles was best man, and W. G. Hutchings also of Los Angeles, was usher. The Rev. Earl C. Bloss officiated.

About 50 guests were present at the ceremony and to be received informally at the fireplace in the chapel, before the young couple, who will make their home at 4216½ South Grand street in Los Angeles, left for a honeymoon trip by auto.

OLD-FASHIONED PARTY AT CHURCH

The good old days were revived Sunday night at the First Baptist church when the Young Married people's class put on an old-fashioned hymn sing in the church parlors following the evening service.

The room was decorated with old daguerreotypes and candles, and old-fashioned mixed bouquets of flowers. Mrs. Earl Frevert was chairman of the committee in charge and was assisted by the Mesdames John James and Leslie Pearson.

Clothes which were fashionable 75 years ago were worn by the ladies, including the little old bonnets which look like inverted saucepans. Community singing at the beginning of the program was lead by Richard Martin after which J. P. Williams dressed in old-fashioned clothes and wearing a goate sang several songs without accompaniment using a tuning fork for pitch, in the manner of the old singing masters.

Mrs. Leslie Pearson sang two old selections accompanied at the melodion by Mrs. Frevert. Refreshments were served during the evening with old-fashioned molasses taffy coming in for its share of popularity.

WILLIAM E. OTIS IS BIRTHDAY CELEBRANT

William E. Otis of 2226 Victoria drive will celebrate his 86th birthday anniversary tonight at his home when he entertains a group of relatives at a dinner party. The table will be decorated in a yellow and white color scheme, and a birthday cake with yellow and white frosting will be a highlight of the dinner.

Guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Allan A. Revill and daughter Miss Eloise Revill of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Vance, Mr. and Mrs. Warren P. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Robbins and Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, Mrs. James Vance, all of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Otis and daughter Marjorie Otis, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Otis, jr., William E. Otis III, and Gordon Otis all of Beverly Hills.

SHEFLINS PLAN OPEN HOUSE ON GOLDEN DATE

Mr. and Mrs. William Sheflin, 815 West Sixth street, will observe their golden wedding anniversary next Monday, when they hold open house from 2 to 4 p. m., to welcome the many friends and acquaintances they have made during their 20 years of residence in this community.

Their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sheflin and four sons, will be present to help make the afternoon a success, with the younger Mrs. Sheflin assisting at the reception. A family dinner party will follow at the Rossmore cafe.

Country Club Names April Chairmen

Greatly encouraged by the increased and enthusiastic attendance at monthly activities during March at the Country club, directors' wives met last night at the home of Mrs. A. G. Flagg to plan April affairs.

Mrs. Paul Hall was chosen as general chairman of all events with the exception of the dance for which the standing committee of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langley, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Huber, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez will officiate. The dance date was tentatively set for Friday, April 29, although there is a possibility that it will be changed to the following Saturday.

There will be no junior dance this month, since there is to be a Girls' Ebell dance on its automatic date. The evening bridge party, however, will be held April 15 with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Guthier as hosts and hostesses. The afternoon bridge tea, preceded by a luncheon, will be held April 22 with Mrs. C. H. Hoiles, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth and Mrs. Richard Ewert as co-hostesses.

Named to the general April committee were the Messrs. and Mesdames Richard Ewert, F. E. Farnsworth, W. I. Ferrey, Warren Fletcher, William Foote, L. M. Forcey, Guy Gilbert, Edwin Gould, Ralph Gray, E. H. Guthier, B. T. Gothard, Don Harwood, C. W. Hill, W. O. Hill, W. K. Hilyard, Fay Hochstrasser, Asa Hoffman and Clarence Hoiles.

The Warren Fletchers, B. T. Gothards and E. H. Guthiers will be hosts and hostesses at the regular Sunday buffet supper this week-end.

HOOVER FOLK HAVE PLEASANT BENEFIT PARTY

Extremely successful in every way was the enjoyable benefit party at which Mrs. John J. Vernon and her executive board officiated for the last time on behalf of Hoover P.-T. A. Their terms of office have just ended. Mrs. Russell Crouse of the finance committee was general chairman of the event.

The affair featured an amusing one-act play presented by a group of players directed by Estelle Card Beeman, and written by Mrs. Amy Viau. Entitled "Poor Uncle Willy Has Gone," it was acted by Miss Phyllis Gerrard, Miss Alice Whitten, Mrs. Harold Lowe, Bill Keaton, and Verne Cathcart.

Ten tables of bridge were in play later, with prizes going to Mrs. Kenneth Coulsen, T. A. Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Crouse, for high scores, and F. A. Burkett, Walter Sorensen, and Mrs. E. A. Rhoads, consolation.

Refreshments were served at tables prettily decorated with spring flowers from the gardens of Mrs. T. A. Willis, Mrs. Walter Sorensen, and Mrs. Vernon. Serving with Crouse were Mrs. T. A. Willis, Mrs. Sorensen, Mrs. Vernon, Mrs. F. A. Burckett, Mrs. Warren Hilyard, Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, and Mrs. Ernest Machander.

SANTA ANAN WEDS GIRL FROM BEACH

Miss Geraldine A. Houser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houser of Huntington Beach, became the bride of Floyd McCullah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin McCullah of Santa Ana, at a Sunday afternoon wedding, at 4:30 o'clock.

The bride was attired in a powder blue suit with long coat, and navy accessories, wearing a gardenia corsage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Everett E. Johnson of the United Brethren church.

Approximately twenty members of the bride's and groom's families were present at the ceremony, and at the reception which followed at the bride's home at the beach. The young couple both attended schools in Santa Ana, and will make their home at 235 Kingman avenue, Buena Park.

SORORITY MEETS AT LAGUNA

Phi Omega sorority met at the lovely new home of Mrs. Frances Boyle at 430 Bluemont street, Laguna Beach, last week for an enjoyable evening of cards. First prize went to Miss Hazel Oliphant, and consolation to Miss Helen Fine.

Mrs. Boyle's home was gay with bouquets of yellow jonquils. A green color scheme was carried out for refreshments which were served at small tables centered with burning green tapers. Favors were tiny green baskets filled with edible flowers, in the form of candies.

Present from Santa Ana were the Misses Helen Fine, Gertrude Vaughan, Hazel Oliphant, Ruth McBurney, Ann Wakeham, and Mrs. Phyllis Hefke. From Laguna besides the hostess, there were the Misses Marjorie Vincent and Frances Whitehead.

DAUGHTERS ARE VISITED BY TWO

At a recent slated meeting of Sarah A. Rounds tent, Daughters of Union Veterans, two guests were present, Mrs. Lena Crowwell of Blue Island, Ill., who is the sister of the tent president, Mrs. Ella Smith, and Mrs. Lulu Buchanan of Logansport, Ind.

The local tent plans to send delegates to a department convention May 1 at Santa Monica, and names of such will be announced later

That's Why We Disagree With Man in a Drab Suit

"Why all this fuss about new spring outfits, colors and such?" Asked the man in the drab suit with a more drab tie. "Clothes don't make the man or the woman," he added "but the womenfolks in my family have gone just plain daft—everything has to be what they call colorful. You ought to see the ties and the socks they brought home to me!"

Now I'm forced to disagree with the man in the drab suit. Clothes DO make the man or woman or child, more often than some of us realize. They provide a self-confidence that is a spiritual fortification and bravery.

Clothes are more than external drapings for the body. They are a release for the happiness, the spirit, the confidence of the wearer. They are a medicine, a tonic, a stimulant. Any man whose earning ability and interest in his work have shot up 10 points when he brought a new necktie, and woman who has lost a beau and bought a red hat to improve her cardiac condition, will attest to this fact. It isn't the garment—it's the thing that it does to the wearer that matters!

The possession of a large wardrobe, merely to make a sartorial display, may well meet with criticisms, but surely no one can quarrel with that pride of appearance which sends us out unafraid. To dress up is a natural tendency. The most savage tribes have an instinct for adornment. Any little girl chooses a bright blue sash in preference to a dark blue one.

It is right, too, that this should be so. Why did the Creator of the world paint the grass green, the seas blue, and scatter a thousand colors on the petals of flowers and the wings of the birds if He did not mean to encourage a sense of beauty?

Cinderella's glittering down didn't change her. It was the sense of importance as an individual, which came from the wearing of regal robes, that gave her courage to respond to a prince's advances.

The typist in a shabby black suit who applies for a job may know the black and white keyboard much better than the girl who wears a simple, tailored print frock with contrasting jacket. The latter wil probably get the job, because she gives forth a sense of confidence inspired by her own self-appreciation.

Clothes are not a frivolity, unless taken in excess. They are a necessity. They give us a chance to become conscious of ourselves as persons. We need their uplift and challenge.

Undoubtedly, there is a mental reason back of fashion's rhythmic changes.

MARY HAMPTON'S Column

THE EASTER PARADE

When a fashion columnist and a studio designer lunch together—ideas begin to fly. Yet in spite of all this, Edward Stevenson, head designer for R. K. O. looked around the studio lunchroom and remarked regretfully, "I've never seen it to fail. Whenever I bring guests here there is nothing but a handful of stand-ins." And at exactly this moment, none other than Marlene Dietrich herself, followed by Douglas Fairbanks, jr., walked right through the door and sat down two tables away from us!

In all my studio roamings I had never seen "the Dietrich" before, and I must confess both her wideish face took me just a little by surprise. It is amazing what photography does to create its desired illusions. Not that she wasn't adorable—but not at all sireenish. In her little tailored suit with checked skirt and dusty green jacket, smartly bare of gee-gaws she looked more like an ingenue—particularly as she laughed and played with an intractable curl on Doug Jr.'s head!

Edward Stevenson is a very tall and likeable young person who gave me a thoroughly unexpected sense of reality. (Hollywood seems so mythical all the time). And you can judge his genius for yourself when you realize that he costumes such people as Irene Dunn, Lily Pons, Barbara Stanwyck and Katharine Hepburn—and all the rest who do such fine work in "A" pictures out at R. K. O.

He was in a relaxed mood, just having finished the new Irene Dunn picture, "The Joy of Living," which had called for an extensive wardrobe of all modern clothes. The clothes sounded so extremely interesting that before long we were out of the lunch room and in the wardrobe suites. I love those amazing storage rooms with enough handsome costumes to clothe any Main Street full of women like their fondest dreams. Whole rooms of lavish furs—case after case of gowns an on! And those great workrooms! But about these Dunne clothes—they were very interesting. Besides being exciting to look at, Mr. Stevenson has a fine sense of photographic values which adds a separate problem to usual designing. For instance, several costumes were in dull, thickish materials like bagheera because they absorb the lights in just the right way. And, too, he was thinking of Fall when he designed for this picture.

He is using lots of semi-dolman sleeves—a theme which is very dear to his sense of designing. And this he combines with a tiny waist and flared skirt—also rather squared shoulders. Then in many cases the design calls for a high hat again rather than Spring's flat affairs, to complete the balance. He is keen on this. In fact Mr. Stevenson is full of fine ideas which help every woman to look smarter whether she be a slender star or a plump matron out in the world! I'll continue this in tomorrow's column and tell you more.

SYCAMORES VISITED BY HIGH OFFICER

The final official visit of Olive M. Patton, district deputy president of the Rebekahs, was made Saturday night to Sycamore Rebekahs of Santa Ana, with Alfreda Olsen presiding in the noble grand's chair.

Of chief interest was election of four delegates to the state assembly which will be held at San Jose in May. Those named were Flossie Baker, Hazel Ryan, Florence Crawford, and Edna Gowen.

Mrs. Bertha Asbury was introduced as a new transfer member, and a program of accordion numbers by Arthur Wilde and readings by Janet Bodman was enjoyed, with concluding refreshments served by Inez Baker and her committee.

SADDLE PALS CONSPIRE

After their customary delightful horseback ride Sunday, members of the Saddle Pals surprised one of their number, Nelson Killingbeck, with a birthday party, gathering at his home at 2800 West First street for refreshments and amusement.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Killingbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Delos Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Parke Atwood, Mrs. Emma Brown of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Harold English, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald English, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Copeland, Mr. and Mrs. Otto McClure, S. Chandler, and several younger children.

DINNER PARTY MARKS BIRTHDAY

Edward Bly was honored on his 75th birthday anniversary Friday evening with a pleasant informal dinner party at his home, 708 West Eighth street.

Mrs. Bly had planned it and decorated the table prettily with spring flowers and a lovely cake.

Guests included their son Clarence, their daughter, Mrs. Thelma Harmon, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Nichols and son, Caryl, and Earnest Harmon of Long Beach.

MRS. DALE IS HOSTESS TO PARTY CHAIRMEN

A pleasant courtesy was extended this afternoon by Mrs. Harold Dale when she entertained at tea to compliment her committee chairman for the annual Junior Ebell fashion tea, of which she was general chairman.

Her home on West Nineteenth street was prettily decorated with spring flowers from her own garden and that of Mrs. Elwood Bear, a neighbor.

Special guests were Mrs. Albert Harvey, president of Junior Ebell, and Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, treasurer, who prepared a financial statement of the highly successful party.

Committee heads were Mrs. Fred Burlew, Mrs. L. C. Davison, Mrs. Thomas Geoghegan, jr., Mrs. E. Lee Smith, Miss Helen Wiesseman, Mrs. Stanley Anderson, Mrs. Claude Brakebill, Mrs. William Fritcher. Mrs. Crawford Nalle, and Mrs. Quentin Matzen were unable to attend.

QUILL PEN MEETS WITH MISS WATSON

Quill Pen club enjoyed the presence of three guests when it met last evening at the home of Miss Lella Watson. Miss Aurelia Koch was an attentive part of the audience when original manuscripts were read, and both Miss Alfreda Biggan and Miss Audrey Benson contributed to the program.

Half a dozen original compositions were read, with Mrs. Annette Smith giving both a short story and a poem, Verna Wells reading a poem, Virginia Fritcher and Amy Viau short stories, Miss Biggan a child's story, and Miss Benson a novel outline with the first chapter written.

Others present to enjoy the session were Mrs. Lucy Marshall, Mrs. Marshall Harnois, Mrs. Maynard Thompson, Mrs. Blanche Brown, Mrs. Roy Winchester, Mrs. Frank Was and Mrs. Emmett Elliott.

CALVARY WOMEN PLAN TRIP

A field trip on April 13 has been planned by members of Calvary Missionary society, who arranged details of the affair recently when they met at the home of Mrs. Edith Paul, 919 Minter street.

Committee in charge of the day's arrangements was composed of the Mesdames John Maret, E. S. Goodner, D. P. Leonard, and A. P. Koentopp.

McCOMBS HAVE HOUSE GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McComb have as houseguests Mrs. Julia Dokken of Faribault, Minn., and Mrs. Hilda Dokken Wright, worthy matron of Security chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at Bakersfield.

Mrs. Wright arrived in time to attend the reception at the Masonic temple Friday night, given for Helen Louise Edwards, grand conductress of grand chapter.

Coeds Frolic In Costume At Party

High hilarity reigned last night when Santa Ana Junior college coeds, arrayed in numerous diversified costumes, attended the Associated Women Students ladies' stag held in the peacock room of the Ebell clubhouse.

Greeting guests at the door was a reception committee of three. Miss Josephine Butler, A. W. S. president, wore an out-moded midday uniform with orange bows tied on her hair braids. Mrs. Robert Northcross, dean of women, accentuated the Mexican influence in her full length leather riding coat, wide-braided belt, and huge light straw sombrero. Miss Agness Todd Miller appeared in a green checked "little girl's" dress. Over her arm she carried a basket full of paper dolls.

Not since the last jaysee Spring frolic sponsored several years ago had coeds planned a mass assembly where everyone came in costume.

Guests shortly after arriving were entertained with a program put on by the women's service clubs.

The first number, presented by the Women's Athletic Associated, portrayed a skit on "Sports Yesterday and Today." Miss Anne Wetherell, representing the Sisterhood of Spinsters, sang a portion from the Donkey serenade and "Just a Memory." She was accompanied by her mother at the piano. Las Meninas turned their efforts to an important issue at the present time concerning "a little propaganda for a new "jaysee." Miss Aloen Miller acted as radio announcer, with Miss Ruth Switzler, Miss Betty Neff, Miss Betty Ann Munson and Miss Mary Jean Steaver performing the various acts.

Y. W. C. A. "melerdrama" was given in pantomime by Miss Mary Coffman, Miss Ruth Budd, Miss Maxine Huber, Miss Dorothy Jenkins, Miss Pauline Cave and Miss Lois Oursler, reader. Moavs' modern miniature, directed by Miss Eineene Reed, portrayed the highlights in college life from early registration through exams to graduation. Concluding the novel program, Las Gitanas gave a fantastic act characterized by reader Miss Betty Bradley, Miss Gertrude Yourt and Miss Helen Warner.

A grand march and dancing completed the affair with costume prizes awarded to the following: Miss Jean Russick was most typical with her grandma costume; Miss Betty Frye was most ingenious, representing the tallest musketeer; Miss Evangeline Piety was funniest, and honorable mention went to Miss Muriel Anderson, a freckled Tom Sawyer, and Mexican, Mrs. Northcross.

Further awards went to Miss Irene Noble, who found the lucky chair, Miss Miller, lucky ticket drawing, and Las Meninas for the best skit performance. Miss Piety and Miss Phyllis Kogler played the piano for dance numbers.

VETERAN REBEKAHS MEET

Veteran Rebekahs will hold a social following the business meeting scheduled for 2 p. m. Friday in the Odd Fellows parlors. The date of this meeting falls on April Fools' day, and a grab bag and fancy articles, including an exchange of small gifts, will add to the fun of the afternoon. Visitors are welcome, the members state.

Star Officer Honored At Event

Helen Louise Edwards, grand conductress, was honored at a banquet and reception given Friday evening at Masonic temple by Santa Ana chapter of the Order of Eastern Star. Banquet tables were decorated in a color scheme of orange, blue and white, with a basket of oranges wrapped in cellophane atop a silver base, decorating the guest of honor table.

Orange blossoms and orange crepe paper streamers were interspersed the length of the table with bouquets of spring flowers in orange baskets. "Orange county's tribute" was the theme of the decorations. Helen Lurker was menu chairman for the delicious banquet, Alice Whittaker was in charge of decorations, and Lillian Rivers of Fullerton was in charge of reservations.

The reception for the guest of honor followed the dinner with Alice Whittaker, worthy matron of Orange, as mistress of ceremonies, assisted by Norman Bryan, worthy patron, of Garden Grove. Marshals were Helen Lurker and Clara Bryan. Address of welcome to districts 59 and 60 was given by Bell Kuhne, while flag bearer was James Austin of Laguna Beach.

A colorful escort of 108 conductresses gowned in white with blue and orange capes, symbolic of blue sky and sunlight, gracing their shoulders, were seated in the center of the room. Attendants were Nettie Nigley, Gale Langenbeck, Florence Farnham, Anita Brown, Sue Henry, Martha Landel, Hermine Lowe, Lena Armfield, Mabel Welsh, Daisy Gruwell, Helen Lurker, Maude Sanger, Clara Bryan, Lillian Edwards, Belle Kuhne, Bernice Ayers, Fred Pope, D. Whitney, Gertrude Conant, Hazel Thron Lane, Corinne Orban Melville, Fay Alexander, Rosamond Harriss, Edna Mensing Hartze, Margaret M. Parker, Jeanette M. Bottom, Hazel Marsh Piper, Willa Jane Hellwig, Jessie Galbraith Morris, Maude B. Sibley, Rose Mead, Lillian Holman, Mrs. Ralph Boynton, Silas Rapp Seagrave, J. Hartley Taylor, Edward C. Counter and Ralph Boynton.

Grand Conductress Edwards entered gowned in a pastel pink chiffon and lace creation, carrying a huge bouquet of spring flowers and was escorted east where the official grand family awaited her. Past grands escorted east were Rita Mae Cooper, Willa Jane Hellwig, Lena Wallace Standard, Maude D. Bradley, Gladys Fitch Pierce, Myra Moyse, Hazel Maude Piper, Frank David Cruze and J. Hartley Taylor.

Deputy grand matrons then escorted were Jennie Shipe, Alice Pierce, Ella Hall, Nellie Davis Graham, Olive Seacrest, Agnes M. Klein, Anna Reinhart, Ann Morris, De Ette Hammill, Bertha Bunker, Hazel F. Schrey, Edna Roach, Julie Johnson, Marie E. Little, Viva C. Watson, Verna Westhoven, Betty Peltzoid and Florence Anderson.

Pals of her honor years were introduced by the grand conductress as follows: 1920, Louise Mae Elsenson, Reuben Born, Willa Jane Hellwig, Myra Moyes, Hazel Lane, Lula Luwell, Cora Blessing, Marie Bates, Lucy Scott, Margaret Hudson and Harry Wiebert; 1930, Sadie Roehm, Marie Beisel, Cora Smith and Duanna Klapp; 1933, Elsie Gillogly, Isabel Hildreth, Ruth Jane Davis, Jennie Shipe, Mabel Joy, Ella Chaplin, Emma Storm, Nell Hubert, Mabel Todd, Inice Orton, Ella Hall, Thelma Vanderlead, Dorothy French, Marie Hubert, Charles Jackson, Carlyle Park, Lew Shrive and William B. McConnell.

The program of the evening was contributed to by the Marysville chapter with an electrical transcription entitled "Helen Louise, It's You;" by the Marysville chapter with a trio of red sunbonnet girls carrying a huge bunch of blue balloons which condensed into a large box of concealed raisins including a gift enclosed by their chapter; by the Kern county association with four girls with wild flower bouquets spelling KERN; by the Orange county association with a king and queen in coronation velvet robes bearing a large star in Eastern Star colors surmounted with a metal treasure chest filled with treasures and assisted by 10 King's guards and queen's attendants, presenting their token of "Love;" by the San Diego chapter with a delegation of 17, each carrying a golden link of floral decorations making a golden chain which was placed around the grand conductress' neck, and presenting her with a token of a reading on "Golden Friendship."

John Vale, grand associate patron, who has a fine tenor voice, sang two selections accompanied at the piano by his wife. Mrs. Florence Wishard, mother of the grand conductress; Alice Whittaker, her sister, and Arch Edwards, husband and grand trailer, were introduced. The grand finale was the entrance of 108 conductresses caped in orange and blue satin, each carrying talisman roses and placing them in the green foliage bouquet presented to the grand conductress, all the while singing to the tune of "The Old-Fashioned Garden."

About Folks

J. E. Tanis of 1410 Maple street, whose birthday is today, plans to celebrate this auspicious occasion by attending the circus performance tonight.

Life of Andrew Mellon to Be Dramatized

By TOM E. DANSON

The life story of Andrew Mellon, late Secretary of the Treasury, former Ambassador to England and philanthropist, will be dramatized on the KVOE - Mutual Don Lee Network coast-to-coast series, "Famous Fortunes," tonight from 8:15 to 8:30.

Tom E. Danson

Born in 1855 near Pittsburgh, Mellon was the son of a judge who had begun life as a poor farm boy, often lecturing his children on the virtues of hard work and thrift.

Young Andrew was encouraged to start his first business venture at the age of 9, marketing the produce of the family orchard. Mellon has often said that this early business training was responsible for his later successful career when he became one of the richest men in the world.

"BIG TOWN" EXPOSES "HOT CAR" SALES

Did you know that a gigantic auto theft ring mulcts insurance companies of $75,000,000 yearly, and takes unestimated millions from unsuspecting buyers of "hot" cars?

Dial "Big Town" tonight at 9:30 on your KNX-Columbia station and you'll be treated to a smashing expose of the racket.

Edward G. Robinson, in his role of Steve Wilson, discovers that one of the reporters on the Illustrated Press has purchased a car which was advertised as a repossession. In his effort to aid his employe, Wilson makes some surprising revelations about one of crimedom's vital "industries."

SPRING BRINGS "ROBIN" TO INTERVIEW

From the sage brush of Beverly Hills comes the sage of Van Buren to speak before a KFI microphone tonight at 10:15, when Bob Burns swaps quips on Fibberlio.

The radio interview might be termed a "homecoming" for the bazooka blowing Burns, for he once was a star of a KFI program titled, "The Fun Factory" about six years ago. Since that time he has become a screen box-office attraction, a radio sponsor's cash-box attraction and a world famous personality.

* * *

William Matchan, baritone of motion picture and concert fame who became a protege of Captain Hancock when he was heard singing in a hotel hallway several years ago, returns to the air as featured soloist of the Hancock Ensemble concert, which plays for nationwide audiences of the Mutual Network and KVOE tonight from 7:00 to 7:30. Matchan's featured solo will be "O Tu, Palermo."

Among the offerings of the noted musical group will be "En Bateau," "Regandon," "Return From the Fair," and Moszkowski's dramatic "Moment Musical."

* * *

Chuck Crowell, the lad who hankers for a ring argument with Max Baer, will meet Johnny Erjavec at Olympic Auditorium tonight, and Reid Kilpatrick will be there to describe the battle. (KEHE, 9:30.)

The semi-final bout between Eddie Grogan and Tommy Hart at 160 pounds also will be aired.

* * *

Two college seniors will argue the question, "Why Fraternities?" pro and con during a National Student Federation program tonight from 8:15 to 8:30, over the KECA-NBC-Blue Network.

John McDonald, sports editor of the Rutgers University paper, Targum, who is not affiliated with any fraternal organization, will contend that the banding together of young men promotes cliques which are detrimental to the college as a whole.

* * *

Eddie Cantor will be the visiting swingmaster tonight via KNX-CBS at 6:30 when Benny Goodman's Swing School starts its new semester.

Now employed by the same company that sponsors the Benny Goodman swing airings, Cantor will drop in to say hello, stop a while to sing a few songs with the Goodman crew and tell a couple of his favorite stories. Although they are his favorites, the public hasn't heard them as yet.

* * *

The new Gloomy Gus and Sunny Jim Air show broadcast over KMTR every night at 10:15 to 10:30, from its first audition has been sited as a new air hit.

* * *

"Singin' Sam," 6 feet plus and with the big bass voice, is pleasing many listeners to his programs on KVOE Mondays through Fridays at 12 noon. Tomorrow noon, Sam will sing more of the old favorite songs to include "Just an Old Photograph," "Hello My Baby," "At the End of a Cobblestone Road" and "Lazy Moon."

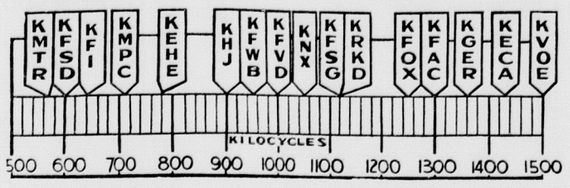

* * *

Elmer Blurt, that soporific salesman who does his merchandising on the Ford "Watch the Fun Go By" program, heard over CBS on Tuesday nights, was not the first to use the now familiar "I hope, I hope, I hope." The original hoper was a character named Ebenezer Biggs, jr., who used to be heard on a West Coast broadcast, the "Happy-Go-Lucky Hour." However, in using the catchphrase, Elmer isn't indulging in plagiarism. Ebenezer, like Elmer, was a creation of Al Pearce. In fact, Ebenezer was a door-to-door salesman, like his successor Elmer.

* * *

Theda Kenyon, New York City writer and student of witchcraft, will be the central figure of a dramatization in the "Thrill of the Week" on Johnny the Cail Boy's program from Radio City over the KFI-NBC-Red Network tonight between 8:30 and 9:00.

THE WRONG MURDERER

By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 34

DINNER WITH ELSA

It was soon after 6 when Mahony left Bassett and returned to Clarkford's. There he interviewed an assistant, obtained a few tips about means of disgusing himself, and bought the materials necessary for a disguise. After that he returned to his lodging and changed into evening clothes for his dinner appointment with Elsa Little.

At 7:30 he rang the front doorbell of Elsa's house. His heart was beating faster than usual as he waited for his ring to be answered. Elsa was wearing a white semi-evening frock of a soft, silky material that had the effect of enhancing her fair slim loveliness. She smiled in a friendly manner at Mahony and held out her hand.

"I'm so glad you could come," she said. I was afraid you might be too busy. You'd like a cocktail, wouldn't you?"

Before dinner and during dinner, they chatted on ordinary topics, and never once did she refer to the murder, or the events which followed the murder. With all the skill of a consummate actress playing a difficult part faultlessly, she set herself out to please him and make him like her and trust her.

Mahony was no mug. But it did not even occur to him that her change of attitude might be mere pretence Since he knew himself to be innocent of her uncle's murder, it did not strike him as unnatural that she should have come to believe in his innocence.

Elsa, an actress conscious of the reactions of her audience, was aware that Mahony was responding to her, and, in a way, displeased her. Every now and then she felt that it was rather hateful to be pretending like this, making up to a man with the idea of luring him on to his own destruction.

After dinner they returned to the drawing room for coffee, and there Elsa made her first reference to the murder.

"It's funny I should have thought it was your voice I heard in the room that . . . that awful night when my uncle was killed," she said hesitatingly. "But now I know you better I . . . I feel that even if it had been your voice I should be sure you hadn't committed the murder. I think Ruth was right when she said that you're not the kind of man who would stab anybody in the back."

Mahony could hold out no longer. He had always hated deceiving her, and now the impulse to tell her the truth assailed him with over-mastering force.

"I was in the room when your uncle was killed," he said quietly.

"Oh!" said Elsa in a horrified tone.

She shrank back slightly from him. She had been hoping for that admission, planning for it, and now that she had it, it came to her with all the foce of a sudden stunning shock.

"This is how it happened," went on Mahony. "I heard, quite by accident, that there was likely to be a plan to kidnap you at Albert Hall that night. I decided to interfere. I saw you kidnaped, and got you away from the kidnapers and took you home.

"Your uncle let me into the house, and I carried you into his study. He followed me in. While I was putting you down on the sofa, with my back to the door, a man hidden behind the door stabbed your uncle in the back and ran out of the house. I tried to do what I could for your uncle, but he was dead.

"Then someone rang the front door-bell. I went to the window and saw a policeman outside. I decided that I'd better get away quickly, and I got away."

"And who was the . . . the man you say you saw kill my uncle?" asked Elsa in a whisper.

"I only just glimpsed his back going through the doorway," answered Mahony. "I didn't see his face at all."

"How did you find out that the attempt to kidnap me was going to be made?" she asked.

Mahony hesitated for a fraction of a second. That was a question which he simply could not answer truthfully. Billy Ross, his dead friend, had been in love with Elsa. The thing he would have hated most would be for Elsa to learn of his criminal past. Mahony could not betray the secret, even to Elsa.

"I heard some men talking in a railway carriage," he answered. "I was standing in the corridor. Either they didn't notice me, or they didn't realize that I could heard what they were saying. I didn't take it very seriously as first; I thought it was probably a joke. Then when I heard that there had been a lot of kidnaping cases lately, I decided to go along to the Albert Hall and see what happened."

"After I got away from here. I met one of the men who'd been responsible for the attempt to kidnap you. I remembered reading in a paper that Miss Fraser was missing from home, and guessed that the same gang had kidnaped her. I made the man I met tell me where they'd taken her."

A slight smile touched Mahony's lips.

"I'm afraid I treated him rather roughly," he went on. "I got Miss Fraser away from them, and took her home. I didn't tell her my name, or anything about the attempt to kidnap you. Next morning, when she stuck up for me to the police, it didn't occur to her that I might have been here before I rescued her. Even now she doesn't know that I was here that night."

"Why did she tell that story about staying with a friend in the country?" asked Elsa.

She was frowning a little, as if puzzled. But she was no longer acting. Mahony's story had gripped her attention. Almost against her will, she was beginning to think he might be speaking the truth.

Ruth's letter is delivered, tomorrow, but by a policeman.

THE BURGLAR OF BUCKINGHAM . . .

Just 100 years ago the city of London was electrified by one of the most daring and bizarre burglary attempts in the history of the British Empire.

On a cold December night a shadowy figure slipped unseen into the gardens surrounding Buckingham Palace. Queen Victoria the year before had moved into Buckingham as her city home —Buckingham, the impregnable.

The shadowy figure disappeared. Then, hours later, a startled guard jumped as something brushed past him and slipped into the great marble hall. Quickly shouting an alarm, the guard dashed in after the shadow, streaking for a window.

Just as the figure was about to escape, the guard reached out and caught—a young boy. The lad was locked up and held for trial.

How he got into the palace was not revealed.

Two years later, almost to the day, Jones again was found inside the palace walls, this time hiding under a sofa in Her Majesty's boudoir!

These affairs were almost forgotten when, on March 15, 1841, Jones was found a third time prowling about the palace. He told his captors confidently that he could effect an entry any time he wished.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Stock market leaders catapulted into new low territory for the past three years or longer today, with losses running to four or more points before mild support stemmed the downswing.

After a lower opening, a little recovery entered the list but it failed to hold and a wave of offerings swept over the industrials with sufficient intensity to put the ticker tape in arrears for a brief interval. The pace soon slowed and extreme declines were shaded here and there near the fourth hour.

Wall Street analysts attributed the brisk downswing partly disappointment in the financial sector over the senate's vote on the reorganization bill, although it was admitted this was hardly a surprise to those who have been following congressional proceedings.

An important selling influence, it was pointed out, was the feebleness of yesterday's comeback, the first real rallying attempt in nearly two weeks. In addition numerous stop-loss orders were touched off on the slide, impaired margin accounts went overboard and sales of American securities from abroad were reported in much greater proportion.

The Method Is Dangerous

The fight over the reorganization bill doesn't deal with the crying need for reorganization; it deals with the method.

Nobody denies that Uncle Sam's executive branch could be stream-lined with savings to all. There's a universal agreement on that point from the President, senators, congressmen, experts and just ordinary run-of-the-mill citizens.

Waste and duplication in the federal government have everybody sick except the boys and girls who have the jobs and the politicians who handle the gravy.

But there is a well-founded kick, we believe, against letting the President grab off so much additional power in order to effect the reorganization.

If congress does finally give the power to Mr. Roosevelt, even though just for two years, it could never take that power back without a two-thirds vote of both houses, since the President could be expected to veto any measure curtailing his powers, and a two-thirds vote would be necessary to over-ride his veto.

In addition to that, what guarantee is there that he will make substantial savings? History in recent years shows that instead of cutting, he has vastly increased federal bureaus and employes.

We hold no brief for the "dirty politics" that both sides have exhibited in the fight. Roosevelters have used Farley and his big whip to beat the boys in line. The opponents have spent thousands on nationwide propaganda in an effort to make it seem that F. D. R. is trying to gobble the country without even wringing its neck first.

We don't stand, either, with those who oppose the measure out of blind hatred and politics.

Our opposition is the same as that of the average citizen who simply does not like to see the Chief Executive gathering more and more power into his hands.

We don't give a hoot if a dictatorship or a highly centralized federal authority is more efficient, if we would have to attain that efficiency at the sacrifice of a traditional American principle.

The principle referred to above is that there should be an equitable three-way balance between the President, the congress and the supreme court.

The three-way balance seems to us to have a lot more to recommend it to the common man than any new lopsided proposal, however efficient, that would tend to give any single branch of the government the whip hand over the other two to the possible peril of our present liberties, however remote that peril might be.

Congress has the power to effect reorganization, and we favor having congress do it instead of transferring those powers to the President.

Local auto firm's safe is robbed three times in eight years. It must be running competition with the Buena Park bank as a calling spot for yeggmen.

Oil and Silver in Mexico

Uncle Sam and his friend Juan from below the Rio Grande are tossing brickbats again.

Juan's government has confiscated American oil interests.

Uncle retaliates by boycotting Mexican silver purchases.

That's how wars start.

One side throws a missle and the other tosses back two. Tempers rise. Then the air becomes black with projectiles and the troops march again.

Not that we couldn't lick Mexico in a few days with less slaughter than a year's automobile casualties. But the idea is to avoid such things as war. They strew men's arms and heads over the ground, blow women and children to bits, and destroy farms and cities.

Perhaps President Cardenas will realize that American property rights are not to be ignored blandly. Perhaps he'll arrange a prompt and substantial compensation for the oil seizures—or will return them—and all will be serene again.

It would be too bad if Uncle Sam's good neighbor policy—which we like better than sending the marines—were to crack up over the current Mexican trouble.

If the brickbats continue to fly, it would be well to look around for some respectable nations—like Switzerland, Holland or the Scandanavian countries—to arbitrate before the troops start moving.

Stalin protests against "a new world massacre." He is an expert on massacres, too.

Call of the Tame

The sun is heading north once more, and it is automatically open season for poetry editors (by poets) and for the elderly gag about what the young man's fancy does in the spring.

We are spurred to this comment by noting the influx of poems to "Foothills of Parnassus," The Journal's home talent poetry department.

Poetic fancy is now, through sheer repetition, supposed invariably to "lightly turn to thoughts of love."

The fact probably is that this fancy doesn't turn lightly at all, but rather pretty seriously.

And it's surer than taxes that to whatever point the young man's fancy strays, right in that vicinity also will be the young miss' fancy. She has a way of being around where the young man, whether in fancy or not, can't help noticing her.

Darn clever, these human beings.

Looks like the stock market is lower than a snake's tummy about now.

Fair Enough

Lesson For Reporters

By Westbrook Pegler

Today's lesson will be a little lecture addressed particularly to young reporters, feature writers and students of journalism. It will make the point that when a journalist falls down on an assignment to see somebody about something he has no occasion to ridicule the subject of his guest in print. In fact, such copy, however brightly done, is an admission that the reporter has missed one, an abuse of power and a knock on a calling which is busy enough dodging and catching half-bricks thrown by outsiders, and often with very good aim.

I am thinking of a merry but plainly impatient criticism of the personal habits and office hours of Judge K. M. Landis, the so-called commissioner of baseball, because a reporter in Florida could not find him by telephone to interview him regarding some question involving the St. Louis Cardinals. The author is a well-known and gifted sport writer for the papers and magazines who will recognize the incident and may want to see me after class for private counsel.

Now, the old judge's position and some of his decisions are peculiar. He disqualified himself before he ever opened court, for he is employed by the baseball magnates to decide cases where their interests clash with those of the players who pay him nothing.

BOSSES' JUDGE

He is the bosses' judge, and there are no two ways about them, although it must be said that in several notable cases he has decided against the bosses to their great loss and in favor of his fellow wage-slaves to their great profit. That point and his theatrical mannerisms—for the old judge does like to hem it a bit—his golf and his office hours, if any, are legitimate subjects for comment in cold blood or in his biography or obituary. But they are no excuse for a reporter's failure to get a story, and an attempt to use them in lieu of sound results on an assignment is not allowable.

The most conscientious reporters sometimes get assignments on which they simply cannot make good, but the papers call that the luck of the game and skip it. Once, when Nicky Arnstein was hiding out from the New York police and dozens of reporters spent weeks trying to scoop the gallant officers, the search became a subject of daily reports in the papers, but they were done in good humor and at the expense of the reporters as well as the police.

JOURNALISTS EMBARRASSED

The journalists were as much embarrassed as the stalwart guardians when it turned out that Donald Henderson Clarke, of the Old World had Nicky covered up all the time, waiting to drive him past the reviewing stand at the head of the annual police parade. And often a reporter's bitter personal anger and humiliation over wantonly insulting treatment are entirely suppressed in the noncommittal line, "Mr. Smith refused to discuss the matter with the press."

The essay on Judge Landis also argues that the judge dislikes newspapermen, which is neither here nor there, and, moreover, isn't entirely true, as I shall demonstrate. Public figures do not have to like newspapermen to maintain their right to fair treatment. Many newspapermen themselves joyously detest certain others.

Most sport writers know that in some of the most spectacular brawls of the last ten years before individual ball players and individual reporters the reporters were loud and exasperating alcoholics whose conduct had long embarrassed the rest.

ONE REASON

That was one reason, among others, why the sports writers did not gang up on the players and silence them out of the game.

Not considering that it is pertinent whether the old judge likes or loathes newspapermen, I will declare that he went to great trouble and no little personal expense and obligation in recent years to get jobs for two broke and despairing newspapermen who had been forgotten by their colleagues, and that once, when he was on the federal bench, he hocked his own life insurance to meet a crisis in the life of a cub reporter in Chicago who has since achieved success and has never forgotten the old mane-shaker's kindness.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

Pret' near any job would be a lot easier if a fella'd just think about what he's tryin' to accomplish instead of how much work he's doing. The reason an old man can walk five miles around a golf course is because he keeps thinkin' about what he's gonna do to that ball when he gets to it. If he had to get out and walk five miles down a good paved highway, it would probably kill him.

I know an old man who ran an elevator for 35 years. Finally one day he went to the boss and he says "I'm quittin'—the elevator inspector told me today that that thing weighs 4000 pounds and that's too heavy a load for an old man like me to be liftin'."

Bright Moments

Horace Greeley, who made the New York Tribune the greatest newspaper of its day, was an absolute teetotaler. One day he was attending a party with a close friend, who, wishing to have some fun at Greeley's expense, said: "Mr. Greeley, and I have drunk a great deal of brandy and water together." "Yes," replied Greeley, "that is true enough. You drank the brandy and I drank the water."

MAYBE SO!

Boswell told Dr. Johnson that such a thing as a beggar starving in the streets of a Scottish city was unheard of.

Johnson: "That does not arise from the want of beggars, but the impossibility of starving a Scotchman."

FDR's Reorganization Plan

The Journal here presents two sides of the hard-fought reorganization plan. The pro side is from The Nation. The con from Dorothy Parker.—Editor's note.

FOR

From the Nation

It has been amusing to follow the reactions to the President's government - reorganization program ever since it was first proposed over a year ago. The first response was one of magnificent boredom: the Brownlow report was long and most of it sounded technical; the feeling was that presidents have for many years tried to reform the executive departments, and there was little reason for thinking Mr. Roosevelt would succeed where the others had failed. Then came the court fight, and with it two results—an obsession about Mr. Roosevelt as a potential dictator, and a new technique for smearing his proposals. Part of that technique was for the Republican opposition to stay in the background like a puppet-master and pit Democrat against Democrat. Another part was propaganda through agencies like the committee to uphold constitutional government; frantic appeals for funds to fight threatened dictatorship, open letters by Amos Pinchot, telegrams by the thousands shepherded to Washington. By use of this technique the opponents of reorganization finally managed to drum up some excitement—at least among themselves.

What is striking is that these tactics are proving to be just duds. The administration enemies have tried their hardest; Senator Byrd got the Brookings institution to make a study of reorganization, and it came through with a half million words attacking the Brownlow plan. But we doubt whether even Senator Byrd's zeal extends to reading half a million words.

Even the columnists, who did yeomen's work saving the country last year, have stopped whipping the dead steed of public indignation. Raymond Clapper picks to pieces the opposition on the crucial question of reorganizing the comptroller general's office, and concludes that the hysteria has fed merely on ignorance of what the Byrnes bill says. Arthur Krock has failed the tory coalition for once; his comment is one of those on-the - one - hand - on - the - other-hand affairs. And Walter Lippmann has written the most sensible comment we have yet read on the bill, telling the coalition in effect that they cannot hope to make another court crusade out of a job or reorganization that has long needed doing.

President Roosevelt got emergency authority to carry out a reorganization at the beginning of his term. The crucial fact, as Mr. Lippman well points out, is that while Mr. Roosevelt has theoretically for a time almost dictatorial power to scramble the government bureaus, he made very little use of it. And for the reason is that "while in theory the bill may seem to give him enormous power; in practice it gives him a large collection of political headaches."

The job of streamlining the executive to fit the needs of modern administration has to be done. It is idle for congressmen to cry that they and not the President must be the ones to do it. The fact is that congress cannot and will not do it, because any individual congressman is the prisoner of the patronage system, and the sum of their commitments amounts to inaction. It requires a great deal of personal courage even for a President to do it. But the job is his, and if Mr. Roosevelt has the stamina, congress would do well to let him try it. The Byrnes' bill as it now stands allows congress by a two-thirds vote to over-rule any rearrangement of bureaus and agencies the President may decide upon. That is check for any exercise of arbitrary executive power. For the rest, the issue should be fought out on technical administrative grounds and not as if the senate were fighting Bunker Hill all over again under klieg lights.

AGAINST

By DOROTHY PARKER

If the bill for the reorganization of the executive passes in its present form we shall have gone a long way toward establishing authoritarian government in the United States. Congress will have decreed its own parital abdication, and fixed it so that one-third of that body can permanently prevent the full congressional power from ever being recaptured. Thus, from interpreting democracy to mean the uncontrolled will of the majority, we shall have passed to interpreting it as meaning the power of one-third of the people's representatives to block the will of the other two-thirds.

The events of the last fortnight, all over the world, have occupied the front page headlines. The repercussion from them has stupefied us all. But we have got to continue to keep our eyes open, and, for the moment, turn them again toward Washington. For this proposal to reorganize the executive branch of the government is at least as revolutionary as the supreme court bill, and, in my opinion, even more dangerous to representative, democratic government. And unless there is a howl from the country within the next few days, this bill, which is now before the senate, is very likely to pass.

* * *

That the whole structure of our administrative system needs overhauling and reforming is beside the point at this moment. What we really need, and need desperately, is an extension, not a diminishing, of congressional control and the erection of a more efficient apparatus for that purpose.

This bill moves in exactly the opposite direction. It gives the President complete power over the bureaus, the agencies and the public corporations, which, with their immense funds and their immense powers, have the capacity to make or break the economic and social structure of the country, and under this bill the President will be subject to less supervision than is given to the head of any private corporation in the United States.

He will be given the power "to transfer, regroup, co-ordinate, consolidate, reorganize or abolish" all of the administrative agencies. This might conceivably be a desirable move for greater efficiency, provided that some check, somewhere, is exercised by the representatives of the people. But the joker lies in the President's veto power. Under this law he can issue an edict with regard to all these agencies. If congress does not disapprove within sixty days the edict becomes law. If it does disapprove, its disapproval is subject to presidential veto. And it will then take a two-thirds majority of congress to override him!

If congress checks the President the President can recheck congress, and all he needs is one-third of congress to overrule the majority.

* * *

This bill must not pass. If it does, we shall have created a means whereby one man, once elected president, can rule this country with a camarilla. If we create those means, sooner or later, they will be used.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Brass Ring To Sec. Perkins

WASHINGTON.—Miss Frances Perkins is the most paradoxical member of the Roosevelt cabinet. At one and the same time she is an excellent departmental administrator, but a lamentably limping cabinet officer.

When she took command of the labor department in 1933, it was one of the most malodorous messes in Washington. Labor distrusted it, employers were contemptuous, immigrants lived in terror of its raiding squads, and experts made ribald jests about its juggled statistics. Today the department is one of the most efficiently managed branches of the government.

Through the appointment of such able assistants as Dr. Isador Dubin, commissioner of labor statistics; the late Daniel W. MacCormack, commissioner of immigration; W. Frank Persons, director of the U. S. employment service, and Miss Katharine Lenroot, chief of the children's bureau, Miss Perkins has completely revitalized the labor department.

Its statistics are among the most valued in the government. Red-baiting and terrorizing of immigrants have been replaced with a humane handling of these problems, and the other functional activities of the department are performed in an orderly and competent manner.

As a housekeeper Miss Perkins has made a real success of her job. Administratively, the labor department is one of the brightest spots of the New Deal. But, in striking contrast to this record, Miss Perkins' operations in the field of policy have been as sour as Herbert Hoover's smile.

GENIUS AT BULLS

Her chief handicap is a genius for mishandling, offending and antagonizing almost every group with which she comes in contact.

It is no exaggeration to say that no other administration leader is as intensely disliked as Madame Secretary. Not even "Uncle Dan" Roper, mealy-mouthed and incompetent as he is, equals her unpopularity. Though people laugh at Roper, no one gets steamed up about him. But with Miss Perkins . . . their expletives don't bear repetition.

Most remarkable of all is that this was so completely unnecessary.

No member of the Roosevelt cabinet was received in Washington with more friendliness and enthusiasm. A few disgruntled labor hacks, who had their own eyes on the post, muttered in their jowls, but no one paid any attention. The capital was definitely cordial—particularly the group of newspaper men and women who specialize in labor news. They had been Miss Perkin's strongest boosters and had played some part in putting her in the cabinet.

Six months after she took office is was difficult to find anyone who wasn't against her.

BRILLIANT ARROGANCE

In that short time she had succeeded in affronting congress, the press, many of her New Deal colleagues, and the liberal labor leaders who had supported her appointment. She accomplished this extraordinary shut-out by one of the most brilliant displays of arrogance and stupidity on record.

How she did it should be an object lesson to every budding statesman. Here are some of the lessons:

Shortly after Miss Perkins took office, Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi made an appointment to see her, arrived on time, and was kept cooling his heels for 20 minutes. Finally he stalked over to a clerk and asked that Miss Perkins be notified he was waiting. Returning a minute later, the clerk pertly announced: "Miss Perkins is busy and can't see you today. Won't you come back some other time?"

Pat is merely the chairman of the senate finance committee and a veteran big-gun of the Democratic party.

ANTAGONIZES PRESS

During all this period Madame Secretary's mishandling of the press has been equally insupportable.

Not only has she been contemptuous, but deliberately misleading. She thinks nothing of making misstatements, or delaying her press conferences for inexcusable periods. On one occasion, after keeping a large group waiting half an hour, she greeted them brightly with, "And to what am I indebted for this distinguished gathering?"

"Search me," snapped one of the correspondents, "we were just trying ourselves to figure out why we put up with your discourteous treatment."

Last year it finally dawned on Miss Perkins that something was amiss in her public relations and she launched a quiet campaign to court goodwill.

She changed her tone of voice toward congressional committees and generally tried to live down the extensive resentment against her. And she is making some headway.

Nevertheless, it must be chalked up as a tragedy to the feminist movement that the first time a woman was selected to fill a cabinet position in the United States government, the mantle should have fallen upon one as temperamentally unsuited as Frances Perkins.

DALE CARNEGIE'S Day-By-Day Philosophy

A Swedish boy, born on a farm in Illinois, decided to go to Chicago and get a job. He went, but finding a job wasn't so easy.

H tramped from place to place—no job. The money he made from raising hogs and shucking corn soon trickled away. At last, he had only 4 cents left.

"I might as well start from 4 pennies into the Chicago river. I recently spent the week-end scratch," he said and threw those with that boy. His name is Charles R. Walgreen.

EVENTUALLY AWARDED

Charles Walgreen's pavement-pounding was eventually rewarded. He got a job in a drug store at Bowen and Cottage avenues for which he received $35 a month. Not much, but it was more than farm hands received. They received $20.

He worked hard and was doing well, and then—

A regular dill pickle of a woman bustled in one day and ordered a glass of Cichy water, and she wanted it in a hurry. Young Walgreen was washing glasses in water which had sodium bicarbonate in it.

The woman was so hurried that he filled a glass without drying it, and handed it to her. She disdainfully pushed it aside, called W. G. Valentine, the owner, and proceeded to tell what she thought about a young snip who would serve her drink in a soiled glass.

TERRIBLE REVENGE

Mr. Valentine knew the glass wasn't dirty, but, wishing to ease the spouting verbal volcano, he laid the blame on the boy.

The boy said things into his sodium bicarbonate that made it sizzle. He decided to resign then and there, and he thought up a lot of sizzling words to do it with, too.

But before he could turn 'em loose, the Boss went out to lunch.

While he was gone, young Walgreen decided upon a terrible revenge. He said to himself: "I'm going to make myself the best drug clerk in Chicago, and then I'll quit. He'll be sorry. He'll beg me to stay and I'll tell him to take his old drug store and go jump in the lake!"

STICKS TO IDEA

He stuck grimly to his idea, worked hard, kept long hours and waited on customers with tremendous enthusiasm.

Then one day the Boss said, "Charley, you're a changed boy. You're a marvel. I'm going to raise your wages $10 a month."

The boy was flabbergasted. He had never thought of such an outcome.

He kept on working and he saved his money. Swedish, you see. The owner decided to retire, and young Walgreen bought the store. Pretty soon he bought another. He now has 513 drug stores.

Charley Walgreen told me that if he had walked out that day he might still be a drug clerk. Think of that the next time you get mad at the Boss and want to scalp him.

Try the Walgreen way at least once.

MUD HOLLOW

"This is a very small town, isn't it?" queried the stranger.

"Well, no," retorted Clem McSilo, "the town is plenty big enough, but there ain't many people in it."

Li'l Gee Gee says she's glad she's small because precious articles always come in small packages.

Yeah, and so does poison.

A resolute man can accomplish almost anything, except keeping his hair from falling out.

JUDGE STUMP

Dear Judge:

Has there ever been a dictator who didn't call an invasion a "defensive move"? P. L. K.

Ali Ben Razamataz, Sultan of Badbohr, was a dictator whose invasions of the harem were admittedly offensive. He had halitosis.

STUMP.
